Heavy Trail Of Death And Destruction

HUNDREDS KILLED & INJURED

TOKIO, Sept. 21.

The severest typhoon for 30 years is raging in Central Japan.

The latest casualties of the typhoon are 662 killed 2,395 injured and scores missing.

The City of Osaka has suffered the most, damage there amounting to 300 million yen, while damage estimater at 20 million yen has been done to crops in Osaka prefecture where 87 schools collapsed resulting in 421 pupils and teachers killed, 1,354 children injured and 31 missing.

59,000 HOUSES INUNDATED

TOKIO, Sept. 21.

The severest typhoon for 30 years is raging in central Japan. Three hundred school children have been killed in Osaka and it is feared that thousands of school children have been killed or injured throughout Japan.

Fifty thousand houses have been inundated by tidal waves. Ten trains have been derailed with over a hundred casualties.—Reuter.

TRAIL OF DESTRUCTION

OSAKA, Sept. 21.

One hundred and eighty-eight houses were wholly destroyed here and 260 partially, causing 90 deaths and injuries to 298 persons. Fifty thousand houses in Osaka alone have been inundated, while fire broke out in eight places.

Over 60 lunatics are missing from the Asylum at the Osaka seaside, which was washed away by the tidal wave.

The Typhoon first hit central Japan, and rolled on from Osaka to Tokyo and then into the Sea of Japan, strewning the path with uprooted trees, overturned telegraph poles and collapsed houses.

Ten trains were blown over by the typhoon, one beng the Tokio-Shimonoseki Express, carrying 250 passengers. This was blown over while crossing the bridge over the Sobagawa river but was held up by parapet.

Twenty planes in Haneda Air Port are irreparably damaged. The typhoon blew down the aerials at the Nagoya radio station.

Water famine threatens Osaka.

Newspapers have suspended publication owing to the disorganisation of electric power.

The typhoon broke up north of the Wakasa Bay.—Reuter.

If Gandhiji Retires?

CAWNPORE, Sept. 21.

The Congress will fare badly in the coming Assembly elections.

Its representative character will disappear and a political setback will ensue. Reactionalism of all kinds will have the upperhand everywhere.

Thus observes Mr. Gourishanker Misra, General Secretary, All-India Hindu Mahasabha in the course of a statement.

Continuing he said that Gandhiji must retire from the Congress to purge it of all kinds of "Riff-raffism, self-conceit, violence and falsehood."—A. P.

KHARE WILL FIGHT MOONJE

Triangular Contest For Assembly Seat In C. P.

NAGPUR, Sept. 21.

A keen contest is expected following the announcement that Dr. Khare will be the official Congress candidate in the coming Assembly elections. This decision was reached at a meeting of the C. P. Congress Executive which telegraphed it to Mr. Bhulabhai Desai at Bombay. Dr. B. S. Moonje is contesting the seat on behalf of Pandit Malaviya's Nationalist Party, while Rao Bahadur S. R. Pandit, the sitting Assembly member, it is understood, is seeking re-election with the support of the Sanatanists.

It is now certain that Mr. M. V. Abhyanker whose name had been announced by the Congress Parliamentary Board is not standing in view of his ill-health.

Dr. Moonje has already started touring with a view to enlisting support, while the Congress election campaign commence shortly. —A. P.

LONDON, Sept. 21.

In Yorkshire Cup Second Round under Rugby Northern Union rules Halifax beat Dewsbury by two points to nil.

STERLING CRASH BEGINS

No Prospect Of Early Recovery Seen

(Special Cable.)

LONDON Sept. 21.

The weakness of the sterling which set in yesterday was accentuated to-day by continental demand for dollars. The British Control started the support to the sterling by buying francs when the rate touched 74.75 which consequently improved to 74.78.

The prospects of the sterling in the near future is not considered bright. The low interest level here will lead to further withdrawals of franc to Paris for more remunerative investment, particularly in the new French loans.

The seasonal demand for dollar is certain to continue, while the adverse change in the trade balance for August constitutes an increased strain on the sterling. Events in the United States and France which could cause a reversal in the trend is not considered likely in the near future.

Pataudi Prepared To Play For India

But Lays Down Terms For Joining Indian Team To England

"CHRONICLE SPECIAL"

The Nawab of Pataudi returned from England on Thursday, when asked whether he was prepared to forego the county cricket qualifications and join the Indian Team, proposed to be sent to England in 1936, he said, he would, if only he was satisfied with the strength of the team.

Health Permitting

Asked whether he would play in India contributing to the advance of Indian cricket, the Nawab Saheb replied that he would be prepared to play in India, provided by doing so, he was not disqualified for his Worcester County.

He further said that he would be prepared to play during the Quadrangular matches, if he was invited, and if his health permitted.

Fifty-Fifty Chance

Questioned whether he would captain a Muslim team in the Quadrangular Tournament, in the next year, he said that it all depended on his health which was fifty-fifty.

When his attention was drawn to the latest cable relating to the "body-line" controversy, he said that of late, so much had been said and written about it that it was futile to offer any remarks; but he added that the controversy was not any better than the knowledge of an average English journalist, which, in his opinion, amounted to nothing.

Result Is Eloquent

He declined to make any comment on the Test Match result, although he significantly remarked the last Test was so remarkably played by the Australians that it was testimony enough to their sound cricket.

Kelkar Expounds Maha-Sabha Nationalism

Leads Tirade Against Congress Muslims And Does Not Spare Mahatma

BOMBAY, Friday.

A tirade against the Nationalist Muslims was launched by Mr. N. C. Kelkar, speaking on the "present political situation" at a public meeting held under the auspices of the Young Mens' Hindu Association, Girgaum Back Road, to-day evening.

HIS EXCUSE.

The excuse for the attack on Nationalist Muslims was their attitude on the question of the Communal Award. He said that the Congress had adopted an attitude of neutrality on the question of the Communal Award, simply to placate the Nationalist Muslims, who were in such a microscopic minority in their own community that not even four Nationalist Muslim candidates could be found to stand for the Assembly elections.

MAHASABHA NATIONALISM.

He also made the extra-ordinary claim that the Hindu Mahasabha was more national than the Nationalist Muslims because the Mahasabha stood for joint electorates. He added that although Dr. Ansari had unreservedly condemned separate electorates as the negation of nationalism, he had not the courage to oppose the Communal Award. "Scratch a Nationalist Muslim and you will find him a communalist" was the taunt of the Poona Responsivist.

MAHATMA'S PARTIALITY.

Mahatma Gandhi also came in for criticism at the hands of Mr. Kelkar. The Congress attitude on the question of the Communal Award was attributed partly to Mahatma Gandhi's excessive partiality to the Muslims at the expense of the Hindus.

MAHATMA'S STATEMENT.

Mr. Kelkar made bold to characterise Gandhiji's recent statement as born of "a most calculating policy." The threat to retire from Congress politics had been given almost on the eve of the Congress It reminded the speaker of a beggar who went about the streets of a town shouting "I won't accept alms in your town" which had exactly the opposite effect on the townsmen who showered kindness and presents on him. Similarly, Mr. Kelkar prophesied that Gandhiji who talked of retirement, would be pressed by Congressmen to remain in the Congress as its virtual dictator.

"HIS HOLINESS" SPEAKS.

His Holiness Shri Shankaracharya of Puri Math who presided said that they should unmask communalism which was stalking in the land in the guise of Nationalism.

DRAMATIC 'VOLTE-FACE'

Polish Spokesman Withdraws Resolution On Minorities

GENEVA, Sept. 21.

Somewhat dramatically the Poles withdrew the resolution for a conference to examine the universalisation of the minorities system submitted yesterday. Th mover M. Raczynski did this in view of the attitude of some of the principal Powers, especially Capt. Eden on behalf of Great Britain.—Reuter.

PROBLEM OF MINORITIES

Eden Twits Poland With Inconsistency

GENEVA, Sept. 21.

Capt. Anthony Eden gently twitted Poland with inconsistency before the latter decided to withdraw the resolution relating to the proposed Minorities Conference. The Lord Privy Seal pointed out that the minorities' provision of Peace Treaties were inserted to liquidate the problem existing at the conclusion of the War.

Pursuing this argument he said: "I suppose that numerically the English were more numerous than the Scots, but I pity the Englishman who would dare suggest to a Scotsman that the latter was one of the slightest or neglected minority."

Capt. Eden contended that the problem of minorities only existed where the minority in one country was adjacent to the majority of its own race, language and religion in another from which country it had recently been transferred. That definition, however, did not cover the Jews but in most of the countries this problem was, of course, unknown.

Mr. De Valera supported the Polish proposals, asserting that two separate minority problems had been created in Ireland.

M. Massigli (France) opposed the resolution.—Reuter.

TROUBLE AGAIN IN AHMEDABAD MILLS

AHMEDABAD, Sept. 21.

Labour trouble is again brewing in Ahmedabad.

The operatives of the weaving departments of two local mills namely the Ramakrishna and the Jehangir Vakil Mills have gone on strike. The operatives of the former mill allege a cut in rates of certain sorts while those of the latter Mill allege ill-treatment by a mill official.

As the strikes in both mills were launched without the permission of the Labour Association, the latter body has, according to its constitution, declared the strikes unauthorised, and called upon the men to resume work.

The Mills, however, have recruited new men, and are working with them.—A. P.

Keep an Eye on Your Wife

Sometimes appearance is deceiving. That is why we suggest that you keep an eye on your wife. Perhaps, she is not as happy as she pretends. Some time you may catch her when she is off guard and surprise a little wistful look on her face.

She may have children to cheer her up with their pranks. Yet she may not be really happy Is she worrying about you? Or is she worrying about herself? There is a chance that she is distressed because you are pale and unhealthy or because she suffers from some menstrual disorders. Commented On Case Pending In Court

OPPONENTS TO APOLOGISE AND PAY PETITIONER'S COSTS

Mr. Justice Murphy and Mr. Justice Sen at the High Court are engaged in hearing two applications for contempt of Court against certain persons who are alleged to be responsible for publishing comments on a case pending before the District Judge of Ahmedabad.

Adverse Comments.

The petitioner is Mehta Kashavlal Chaturbhai of Sanand, in Ahmedabad Distt. The opponents in the first application are Bhikhalal Jaymull and Bhogilal Maneklal. This case is an offshoot of an application filed by Budhabhai Ukhabhai of the same place under the Charitable and Religious Trusts Act in the court of the District Judge of Ahmedabad charging the petitioner with mismanagement of certain properties of a Jain temple at Sanand of which he was a trustee. The petitioner in his defence put in a written statement, and soon after that, the opponents got an article published in "the Bombay Samachar" adversely commenting on the petitioner's defence. Thereupon the petitioner got the names of the opponents from the editor of the paper as being responsible for the publication of the article, and sent notices to them stating that they had rendered themselves liable for contempt of court by their conduct, as the case is still pending, and calling upon them to apologise to the Court. The first opponent refused to apologise, while the second denied that he was a party to the publication.

Leaflet Published

In the second application, the petitioner prayed for contempt proceedings against six persons of Sanand who were alleged to have published a leaflet similar to the article in the "Bombay Samachar." The first opponent is Budhabhai Ukhabhai, the man who has charged the petitioner with mismanagement of the temple properties in the original case. The other opponents are Mehta Harilal Mangaldas, Mehta Nemchand Raichand, Gandhi Atmaram Khemchand, Mehta Popatlal Vadilal and Gandhi Mohanlal Khemchand.

The District Judge having declined to take action against the opponents in both applications, the petitioner approached the High Court in revision.

After Mr. Koyaji had made his submissions on behalf of the petitioner, their lordships enquired whether the opponents were prepared to tender an apology to the court.

Mr. Shah, counsel for the opponents, replied in the affirmative.

Their lordships observed that the opponents, through their counsel, were prepared to tender an apology to the court for the publication which amounted to contempt of court, but they must also pay the costs of the petitioner in regard to each of the applications.

Mr. Koyaji said that his client did not wish to be vindictive and was willing to accept the apology on condition that his costs were paid

Their lordships made no order on the applications and directed the opponents to pay the petitioner's costs.

Mr. H C Koyaji with Mr. Nanubhai K. Desai and Mr R. A. Desai appeared for the petitioner. Mr. J C Shah appeared for the opponents.

ALLEGED ASSAULT

Accused Released On Bail

Abdulla Shaikh, alleged to be a henchman of Yasim Khan Lamalkhan, has been arrested in connection with the assault on Dawood Sayad Rasin on August 28. It will be recalled that the complainant who went to claim his winnings on a Satta bet, was set upon and severely assaulted by a gang alleged to have been led by Yasim.

Abdulla Shaiku, the suspect was placed before Mr. P. L. Thakker, Presidency Magistrate and allowed bail till September 25, pending completion of police inquiries.

Pedestrian Waylaid

A Hindu going along one of the Bombay streets early on Friday morning was threatened with a knife by two Muslims, if he did not immediately hand over to them what all money he had on him. Before the gangsters could put their threat into action, pedestrians came to the rescue of the helpless Hindu.

It appears that Kondiba Ganpat, was going along the Bhandari Street at about 8 a.m. on Friday, when two Muslims armed with open knives waylaid him and threatened to stab him if he did not hand over all the money that he had on his person.

The Hindu raised an alarm and the Muslims who had snatched away a gold chain from their victim made a bold bid for freedom, chased by pedestrians. One of the gangsters managed to escape, while the other was arrested by a constable and taken to the Pydhonie Police Station.

Further enquiries in the case are being carrid on by Sergeant Ballantine of the Pydhonie Police.

RS. 30 COMPENSATION FOR VICTIM OF STABBING

Accused Get Off Lightly

Tinka Shanker, Kalidas Keshav, Narasiyya and Buccamia the latter two of whom are still at large were convicted and sentenced on Friday by Mr. P. L. Thakker, Presidency Magistrate, Mazagaon, on a charge of causing grievous hurt to Sakaran Dhondu with a knife on June 14 last.

Accused pleaded not guilty.

The Magistrate found all the accused guilty of the charge and sentenced them to pay a fine of Rs. 20 each and directed that Rs. 30 should be paid to the complainant as compensation, or in default they should serve three weeks' rigorous imprisonment.

YOUTH'S DEATH MYSTERY

Mystery surrounds the death of an unknown Hindu male, aged 20, whose body was found huddled up in a creek at the Antop Hill, Wadala, on Thursday.

The Police Surgeon has asked for a post-mortem on the body, which is lying at the J.J. Hospital Morgue.

BURGLARS BOUND OVER

Police Say Accused Should Be Confined In Isolated Place

An alarming increase in the cases of robberies, thefts and house-burglaries in Bombay in general, and Bholwada and Kalachowki sections in particular, were traced to the existence of a "master gang of robbers and house-burglars.

The five members of this gang were ordered by Mr. M. A. F. Coelho, Magistrate, Dadar, to be bound over for good behaviour for a period of 12 months in the sum of Rs. 100 each or in default to undergo rigorous imprisonment for 12 months.

"The police were at a loss to account," said the Magistrate in the course of his judgment," for this phenomenon of continuous robberies and house burglaries, till one of the members of the gang Kassam Ebrahim was arrested. . . ."

The names of the convicts were.—Mahadeo Sonn, Dwarka Mangal, Bala Yesso, Bakar Hussein and Gopal Ramlal.

The police stated that the accused were unable to furnish the bond and it might be necessary to confine them in an isolated place under the Criminal Tribes Act.

The members of the gang had previous convictions ranging from four to twenty.

The first conviction of the accused No. 1 dated as far back as 1897 and the records of the rest are equally shady.

It was stated in the evidence that the accused No. 5 was an adept at house-breaking.

"I hold," remarked the Magistrate "that the accused if allowed at large without security, will continue to be, as they have been in the past to be a menace to society."

Raid And Arrests

On July 3 Inspector Wagle (C. I. D. Branch) after instituting inquiries about the alarming increase of robberies and house-burglaries, ran to earth and arrested all the five accused.

They were found hiding, it is stated, in a vacant godown at Sewree by the Bholwada police. The godown is situated in a secluded place and belongs to the Improvement Trust. The gang occupied the place for nearly two months, prowling about the localities and committing burglaries.

Evidence further revealed that accused No. 1 had 12 previous convictions, while No. 2 had 20 and the rest 17, 4 and five respectively.

Accused No. 1 had been ordered to report himself to the police for three years, but had been in hiding.

Dwarka Mangal who like the others had assumed "aliases" was a notorious character.

Bala Yesso, the third accused, like the first was 60 years of age and both of them had spent 36 and 23 years in jail respectively..

WOMAN RUN OVER BY TRAIN

An unknown Mahomedan woman aged 25, was run over and killed by a B.B. & C.I. local train on Thursday evening.

The body was removed to the morgue.

Mr. R.P. Badekar, Assistant in the Northcote Police Hospital, giving evidence at the inquest before the Coroner said that the body was too decomposed for identification.

The inquest is not completed.

RUPEE SPENT ON KHADI MEANS

15 Annas For Producer Alone

The Agent of the Bombay Branch of the A. I. S. A. writes:—

A rupee spent on foreign cloth means one anna and a half to Indians while annas fourteen plus half an anna direct into foreign trade's growth.

A rupee spent on mill-cloth means half the amount for the mill-owner, annas six to instruments of productions and two annas into foreigners' pockets.

A rupee spent on Khadi means the whole of the amount, minus management expenses one anna, to the producer alone.

What's your choice?

To remit the amount to foreign countries?

To enrich the always prospering mill-owner? or

To help the producers and wage-earners in living?

Khadi sales during Gandhi Jayanti weeks will evidently answer.

ALLEGED BREACH OF TRADE MARK

Parties Come To Settlement And Consent Decree Passed

Mr. Justice Tyabji at the High Court heard the notice of motion in the suit filed by Henry C. Stephens Ltd. against Mahomed Kasim and Co., (Bachu Ramiah Chetty and sons) for alleged breach of trade mark.

The plaintiffs stated that Mr. Henry C. Stephens had for many years past been manufacturing in England and selling in Bombay blue black ink. It was sold in bottles of brown stone bearing labels printed on a white, red and blue-black ground with certain descriptions with the facsimile of the signature of the manufacturer. Their label had become well known in the market, and the ink enjoyed a very large sale in Bombay.

The plaintiffs recently came to know that the defendants were offering for sale blue black ink contained in brown stone bottles similar to those of the plaintiffs, and bearing a label which was a colourable imitation of the label used by the plaintiffs. This was likely to deceive purchasers into the belief that the ink sold by them was of the plaintiffs' manufacture. The plaintiffs further alleged that the defendants had assumed a ficticious name of M. H. Keys and Co which was printed on their label along with the word "London" which was meant to mislead purchasers into the belief that the defendants' ink was manufactured in England, while, in fact, it was manufactured in India. The plaintiffs stated that they had the exclusive right to the use of their label and that the defendants had wrongfully infringed their trade mark.

DEFENCE DENIAL

The defendants, Bachu Ramiah Chetty and Sons, stated that Mahomed Kassim, the proprietor of Mahomed Kasim Saheb and Co., had been for the last 20 years manufacturing and selling ink under the name of M. H. Keys and Co. This ink had become very popular in Bangalore, Mysore and Madras. In 1929 Mahomed Kasim assigned to these defendants his business except the right of manufacturing the ink. In January 1930, the firm of Mahomed Kasim Saheb and Co., was dissolved, and since then the defendants had ceased to sell any ink. The defendants denied that they had infringed any trade-mark of the plaintiffs.

In this suit, the parties came to a settlement whereby the defendants, their agents and servants were restrained by an injunction as asked for by the plaintiffs. The court passed a consent-decree accordingly

Mr. R. J. Kolah, instructed by Messrs. Payne and Co. appeared for the plaintiffs.

ACQUITTED OF KIDNAPPING CHARGE

Mr. Justice B. J. Wadia at the High Court Sessions acquitted Bachu Ibrahim a Muslim boy of 17 years, on the jury unanimously finding him not guilty of kidnapping a Christian girl named Helen daughter of Jayavant Patole.

Rao Bahadur Moreshwar Pradhan appeared for the prosecution. Mr I. K. Master with Mr. A. I Minty defended the accused.

The girl was living with one Mrs. Powar at Nagpada. In her evidence she stated that she knew the accused and used to exchange letters with him. On May 7 last, she went to the accused's room at Dongri and lived there for 5 or 6 days, and during this period the accused had sexual relations with her. Subsequently she was seen by her father on the road and he took her away.

Medical evidence showed that the girl was 17 years old, but the birth certificate gave a date which showed that she was a little under 16.

The accused's defence was that the girl had willingly gone over to his place.

Congress Volunteers

With the approach of the Congress session, there is brisk activity in the recruitment and training of volunteers. Several training camps have been opened in different Wards of the City to train volunteers recruited in those wards.

The women volunteers are also undergoing regular training daily under the supervision of Miss Safia Somji. The enthusiasm shown by the volunteers, women as well as men, and the attention being paid to their training are a guarantee that they will acquit themselves in a manner worthy of Bombay.

Teaching Of Journalism

In the course of a lecture at the Calcutta University Mr. Mrinal Kanti Bose, Editor, "Amrita Bazar Patrika", suggested that Indian universities should impart higher instruction in journalism. The suggestion is an old one but has not appealed much to the universities or to many journalists. It must be admitted that, though the art of journalism is best learnt in a good daily newspaper office, a university can usefully provide courses in the theoretical and purely literary aspect of journalism.

Let Bombay University Lead

It is very gratifying, indeed, to learn that the Calcutta University under its Vice-Chancellor, Mr. Shyama Prasad Mukerjee, is contemplating to start a scheme of University training in journalism. The adoption of journalism as an optional subject in the M. A course for History and Economics will doubtless go a long way in making our University students something better than being mere "book-worms." It would keep them in touch with the current events of the day, in the knowledge of which unhappily most of them are at present sadly lacking: for one of the essential qualities of a good journalist is that he should know, not only the events that are happening in his own country but also those that are staged in the outside world. It has been said, and rightly too, by a great politician that the foundations of a great nation are laid in its classrooms. Cardinal Newman in his famous essay entitled "What is a University?" describes an ideal university as a world in miniature. Such being the case it is hoped that the Bombay University which has at all times given the lead to its sister universities in matters of practical schemes of education would not lag behind the Calcutta University in adopting this scheme of training in journalism as a part of its carriculum.

THE WAY TO UNITY

It was a remarkable speech that was delivered the other day by Pundit Sunderlal of Allahabad at the Ganesh Utsav celebrations at Cawnpur on the subject of Hindu-Muslim unity. The occasion itself was made remarkable by the fact that though the Ganesh Utsav is a purely Hindu religious function the meeting was presided over by a Muslim leader like Maulana Hasrat Mohani. Pundit Sunderlal's speech was remarkable for the fine tribute he paid to the tolerance of Moghul rulers of India saying that rule is "a unique instance of religious tolerance in the world even to this day". And the most remarkable part of the tribute was the quotation from the historian Hunter that "not one cow was slaughtered throughout the whole length and breadth of India for full 200 years in the days of the Moghul Empire". If the statement is well-grounded, it ought to be impressed upon every schoolboy if only because it is not to be found, we believe, in any of the officially recognised text books on Indian history. Pundit Sunderlal was on firmer ground when he challenged one to show a single instance of a Hindu-Muslim riot like that of Cawnpur of 1931 during the whole of the Moghul Empire. The Pundit has reason to be indignant at most of the present history text-books which grossly pervert the true facts of history and dwell too much on the internecine feuds. "There are no two brothers known, on the surface of Mother Earth, "he says, "who have not abused each other or fought with each other in their childhood. Cursed is he who reminds them of these quarrels in their after life to create friction amongst them". The best way to counteract the influence of bad history books is for Indian historians to write good ones and broadcast them among students whether the present Government recognise them or not.

Best Way To Communal Unity

Equally remarkable speeches were delivered at Khamgaon on nearly the same topic and about the same time by Khan Abdul Ghaffar Khan and his brother Dr. Khan. Profoundly true are the former's remarks on the common cry of "Islam in Danger" or "Hinduism in Danger". He agreed that both of them were in danger but pointed out that Islam was not in danger at the hands of the Hindus nor Hinduism at the hands of Musalmans. "Each religion was in danger at the hands of its own followers". There is a sweet and robust common sense in the Khan Saheb's remarks on the present communal situation which cannot but impress every dispassionate Indian. Common service for a common cause, he said, was the best way to communal unity. And, indeed, we could have more unity if we worked more for common rights and talked less about conflicting rights. The Khudai Khidmatgars, of whom Dr. Khan gave a most striking account, like their leader, are all devoted Muslims but we do not believe that they waste time over academic discussions on the Communal Award and other communal matters. Such of them as are not in jail are busy in national service without even communal consciousness in them. Little wonder they and their leader have endeared themselves to the whole country and the country's love for them will ever be the best guarantee of all their rights.

Khan Abdul Gaffar Khan's Advice

Khan Abdul Gaffar Khan's exposition of the Congress attitude towards the Communal Award was simple yet convincing. The foremost duty of the Congress, he said, was to win Swaraj, which could be won only through united efforts. And how could there be united efforts if the Congress took sides in the controversy about the Award? Similarly, the only way to eliminate the Award, said Khan Abdul Gaffar Khan, was not to condemn it in words but to replace it with our own settlement. And how could there be a settlement if the Hindus and the Muslims were pitted against each other with regard to the Award? Khan Abdul Gaffar Khan, who has already rendered meritorous service to the country by, among other things, his splendid creation of the Khudai Khidmatgars, numbering over three lakhs, is now serving the country nobly by teaching it the lesson of communal unity and the right way to it. Would that his earnest words could touch the hearts of the misguided communalists in all the communities.

Fortunes Of The League

The admission of Soviet Russia into the League of Nations, with a permanent seat on the Council of that body, opens a new chapter in the history of that institution the full possibilities of which it is impossible to estimate today. The League used to be reproached,—certainly in the eyes of the weaker peoples at least,—with being no more than a registry office for France and Britain. With the withdrawal of Germany, and with Italy more critical than hostile, with the utter aloofness of the United States, and the scornful resignation of Japan, the utility of this international organisation is more than doubtful in hearts yearning for a relief from the oppression and exploitation inseparable from modern capitalism and imperialism. Soviet Russia has stood, in verbal professions at least, for that equality and fullness of opportunity for the development of every civilised community in the world, which must raise new hopes in such peoples by the admission of Russia into the League as its permanent member. But, before such hopes become too ardent, it is necessary to remember that the Russian regime of to-day,—with all its intense concentration on Russia's own internal development and rapid industrialisation,—is more likely to end in a replica of France after the Corsican adventurer had suppressed the Revolution and established an Empire, than in a new reign of righteousness, justice and equality on earth.

We do not, of course, question the right of the Soviet regime to develop the territories and resources that are embodied in the United, Socialistic, Sovietique, Federal Republics, commonly called Russia. We would not, also deny the immeasurably valuable work the Five-Year Plans have accomplished in the regeneration of that territory and its people. We would not even belittle the value of the mere example of Russia to the world at large, or the more active aid given towards their redemption to the backward peoples of Central Asia. But, recognising fully all these, we cannot at the same time overlook the danger to the peace of the world by the absorption of this champion of internationalism in the modern game of intensive economic nationalism. With the constant dripping of a mountain spring, the hardest rock is worn out into the grains of sands that lie on the seashore. With the constant contact of the modern commercial and imperialist nations of western Europe, in the Council of the League of Nations, we fear the danger is more than imaginary that Russia under Stalin would learn to imbbe their prejudices, and hasten to imitate their methods, participating in the fruits of their unabashed imperialism, by exploiting all the weaker nations of the world.

The protests made, if not heard, against Russia's entry into the League of Nations were urged on grounds with which the oppressed of all nations can have no sympathy. So long as organised religion is the chief buttress of authority, and champion of the vested interests, the exploited cannot understand the protest of a De Valera demanding religious toleration in Russia, as a kind of condition precedent to her recognition as an equal member of the League of Nations. But there are other considerations, which make us doubt if the advent of Russia to the League of Nations would prove an unmixed blessing for the peace of world. Unless Russia restores religious toleration, she cannot have Mr. De Valera's support and co-operation. Unless the Soviet recognises the Tsarist debts, she would lack American sympathy and help. Unless she disowns Communism, she may miss Hitler's active championship, and Mussolini's tacit blessing. The present-day rulers of Russia may be equal, as the interests of the moment incline them, to all, or any, of these "volte faces." Individually, perhaps, not one of these concessions might really be objectionable. But what may please Mr. De Valera, as a dutiful son of the Catholic Church, may not suit Hitler as enemy to all authority which could possibly rival his own in the Fatherland; and what may meet with the wishes of Wall Street, may not quite be agreeable to London or the Little Entente. We would not, however, because of these legitimate apprehensions, condemn the step which has led to the admission of U.S.S.R. into the League. Rather would we wish that institution to be still further strengthened by a similar admission of the United States of America,—even as that country has at last decided to join the International Labour Office. By such accessions, the League would gain in strength and independence. If the new entrants are honest, they would bring to the League a force and a respect, which is to-day shown to that body—on paper only. Let but the League command the genuine allegiance of America and of Russia; let but France and Britain use it as its original framers intended it to be used,—as a sort of an international sovereign, whose decrees must be accepted by all on pain of outlawry from civilised communion all the world over,—and the efforts at world peace and universal brotherhood would be accomplished facts within less than five years.

THE AWARD AND AFTER

Congress Attitude Towards The Award Is The Right One From Every Point Of View

(By T. A. ANANTHARAMAN.)

The masterly address on the Present Political situation the other night at Matunga by the Secretary of the Congress Parliamentary Board has still not opened the eyes of the communalists among certain Hindu sections who continue to characterise the Congress attitude on the Communal Award as week-kneed, time-serving and anti-national. The differences that have arisen between the Pundit and the Congress are certainly unfortunate, but I am one of those who sincerely believe that the Pundit has committed the biggest mistake of his life in forcing this thorny problem into an issue for the coming elections to the Assembly. The inherent dangers of this course are so apparent that it is not necessary to recall the manifesto which a local candidate issued to his constituency—a document which revelled in tactless and mischievous attacks on our Muslim brothers. Mr. Jamnadas Mehta's manifesto can be only a speciman. Closely on the heels of Mr. Mehta's manifesto we find yet one more compatriot, this time from Bengal, broadcasting to his countrymen ideas likely to arouse all that is primitive and contemptible in man—ideas which certainly cannot bridge the gulf that divides the Hindus and the Muslims to-day. All this is to be deplored, but knowing as we do what an Election is, is there anything to be surprised at at the way in which events develop in India to-day? We are here concerned not with what is going to happen to-morrow, but what is going to happen the day after that or in the near future when I expect to see the leaders of the Majority and the Minority communities at a Round Table Conference in India with the object of forging a tangible and satisfactory solution for all communal differences that divide India to-day.

A Melancholy Chapter.

I am aware that no controversial subject can be correctly understood detached from its historical perspective; but the political events of the last five years are so fresh in the public mind that it is neither necessary nor desirable to recall the ugly developments that took place at London during the second Round Table Conference. The proceedings of the Minority Committee in particular form one of the most melancholy chapters in the history of our political evolution. Of the many who were invited by the Government to guide the destiny of the nation there was only one who stood like a rock and stuck to that great idea of Self-

SPIRIT OF UNIVERSITY EDUCATION

Our Universities Are Often Being Subjected To Adverse Criticism On Grounds That Are Hardly Tenable If Exposed To Intelligent Analysis

By Prof. K. G. SAIYIDAIN, Principal, Training College, Aligarh.

I.

(This contribution is part of a Chapter from a forthcoming book by Professor K. G. Saiyidain, entitled: "The School of the Future and Other Essays," to be published shortly by the Indian Press, Allahabad).

I have had many opportunities recently of discussing with some prominent public-men their views on the function of University Education in India—men who, in various walks of life to which they belong, have made their undoubted mark. It has caused me considerable surprise to discover that there is a very general and widespread confusion of thought on some of the most vital educational issues and the Universities are often being subjected to adverse criticisms on grounds that are hardly tenable if exposed to intelligent analysis.

I am no apologist for the Indian Universities as they are. On the contrary, I am keenly alive to their manifold defects and shortcomings and I realize that their academic standards are still very far from what they might be, But this does not justify a confusion of issues or excuse the tendency on the part of educated people to attack the Universities on every conceivable individual grievance. In practical and political life, any stick may be good enough to beat a dog with; but in intellectual matters we must insist on clarity of thought, on a careful and honest formulation of standards and criteria of judgment. It is my purpose in this article to discuss briefly the charges which are usually levelled against the Universities and, incidentally, to indicate what I consider to be the true function of a university in modern life.

"Useless" Knowledge

Perhaps, the most common complaint that one always encounters is that the universities do not contribute to the vocational efficiency of their alumni; they do not cure unemployment; they concentrate on 'useless' or 'unimportant' knowledge instead of equipping young men (and women) to earn their living. There are historical as well as contemporary reasons for the particular stress implicit in this view. Indian universities came into being originally for the purpose, principally, of teaching English language and, to a lesser extent, Western knowledge to Indians with a view mainly to producing Government officials and so long as the number of graduates was not large and competition not very keen, the universities did fulfil the purpose of recruiting men into Government services. During the three decades of the present century, however, the number of people receiving the English education has grown at a very rapid rate and naturally, the available posts have not been sufficient to accommodate all the young men equipped for, and aspiring to, the 'black-coated' professions. The Universities have, therefore, ceased to distribute sure charters of entry into Government services. The situation has been further aggravated by the unparalleled economic distress and depression during recent years. Taking these facts into consideration, one can easily understand and sympathise, though not agree, with the chagrin and disappointment of the average man at the failure of the universities in making good what to him is their exclusive 'raison de etre.' What is regrettable, however, is that better educated and presumably better informed, men should have failed to detect the pardonable fallacy of this point of view and should have held the Universities responsible for a state of things of which they are in reality the victims.

Two Fallacies

This objection takes one of the two common forms—either people run down this or that university for its failure in putting through a certain number of specially coached students through the various competitive examinations, and thus having less civil servants and junior administrators than some other 'efficient' university. Those who have been lucky or clever enough to push themselves into Government offices and services—in comparatively slacker times, of course!—usually favour the universities with this sneer. Others who are anxious about the industrial and economic progress of the country bewail the fact that universities are 'squandering' their resources on teaching Arts and Sciences instead of 'utilizing them' profitably by providing technical and industrial education. To the former the ideal university would be a magnified coaching centre where 'crammers'—that is their significant official designation—will put candidates for service, through their paces. Efficiency will, of course, be measured with strict scientific accuracy, i.e., as success in producing maximum results with the minimum of effort, without any danger of time and attention being diverted to 'useless' pursuits and studies. The latter are unable to distinguish between the functions of a University and those of an Institute of Technology. Both are at one in not only being wrong in their views, on academic and educational grounds, but also short-

Frankly Speaking

HITLER WILL WATCH

The admission of Russia into the League as a member "who pursued a programme for the diffusion of the Communist ideal all over the world" has naturally perturbed Herr Hitler more so because it brings into greater prominence the virtual isolation of Germany. Herr Hitler rightly regards it necessary to follow the development of the situation. But will Germany do so in a sensible attitude of mind? Will she have the wisdom to learn the real lesson from the situation and its development? And that lesson is that she cannot, in her own ultimate interests, afford to brandish the sword.

NEW POLISH PROPOSAL

Poland has not made an unfair proposal in the Sixth Commission of the League as regards Minorities. It is quite true, as M. Motta says, that "the League would not survive if any State denounced a treaty as inconvenient." But the League would also not survive if any Treaty were regarded so sacrosanct that criticism of it would amount to sacrilege. And then what the Polish representative now suggests is an International Conference of Minorities to draw up a Convention, placing all minorities on the same basis. This is not denunciation but an attempt to improve upon the existing state of inequality. It is only fair that all minorities should enjoy similar rights and privileges.

ABDUR RAHIM'S APPEAL.

The statement that Sir Abdur Rahim made to the United Press the other day is rather interesting. We do not doubt his sincere sympathy for "the masses." But an earnest appeal by a non-Congressman to Congress "for the amelioration of the condition of the miserable millions of our countrymen" is so superfluous as to be amusing. The whole ideology and objective of the Congress is directed to that purpose, and if Sir Abdur Rahim thought deeply and fairly he would find that that is the main crime of the Congress in the eyes of "non-Congress parties." The latter profess sympathy in abundance, but are not prepared to face the logical implications and the moral obligations of that profession.

HEAL THYSELF!

Sir Abdur Rahim's earnest hope that Congress will remove "divisions" in the country is a recognition of its position, which we appreciate. But here, again, if Sir Abdur Rahim thought deeply and fairly he would admit that it is the "non-Congress parties" that are responsible for "the acts and statements of rash and narrow-minded men." And might one suggest that in this very statement Sir Abdur Rahim is himself, perhaps, unconsciously guilty of rash narrow-mindedness, of which he complains by insinuating that Gandhiji is the leader of the Hindu community alone. Sir Abdur Rahim ought not to be so irresponsible and cheap in his statements.

A WELCOME COMPROMISE.

We welcome the announcement issued by Mahatma Gandhi and Mr. Aney that as a result of further conversations they have come to the conclusion that it should be a common cause between the Parliamentary Board and the Nationalist Party that wheresoever between the rival candidates "it is manifest that one candidate has an overwhelming chance against another" the latter should be withdrawn. If the principle is accepted by the two bodies, it should not be too difficult for their representatives to come to a settlement on the question of fact as to which candidate has a "manifestly overwhelming chance." It should, however, be remembered in this connection that the question is not wholly or even mainly a personal one. A candidate who while standing independently may not have a manifestly overwhelming chance may have it while standing on behalf of a body like the Congress.

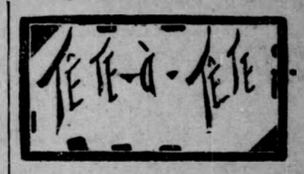
MUNICIPAL PRESS.

The Bombay Municipal Corporation may be congratulated on having at last definitely settled the question of owning a printing press, a question that has been before that body for the last four years. Both the Standing Committee and the Commissioner examined the question from every point of view and recommended the modest expenditure of Rs. 10,000 for a small press. Yet members were not wanting still to put off a decision indefinitely on some frivolous ground or other. It was certainly a most frivolous objection that was raised by Mr. V. N. Chandavarkar that the Standing Committee was not the proper body to make a recommendation in this matter. The Corporation has little to lose and much to gain by having a press of its own. The Calcutta Corporation has one and runs it profitably and we do not see why the Bombay Municipality should not do likewise.

-PRESS VIEWS-

Mahatmaji's Statement

The statement issued by Mahatma Gandhi defining his position with regard to the present policy of the Congress, we are sure, will be read with extraordinary interest throughout the length and breadth of India and even abroad. For ourselves we have read it again and again and given it all the attention which such a weighty pronouncement from a man of Mahatma Gandhi's position deserves. The first impression that arises in one's mind after one has perused it is a heightened conviction of the greatness of the man who has made the statement. That Mahatma Gandhi is a great man—one of the greatest of the world—has become almost an article of faith with the majority of us through sheer repetition. Here is fresh evidence forthcoming in almost every line of this long communication to the public that in dealing with him, the world has to deal with a man who is remarkably great in every fibre of his being and who towers heads over shoulders over everyone else who is but a pigmy. A spirit of service, an insatiable thirst for truth and a burning anxiety to avoid anything which might give even the remotest idea that "he is a hinderanc rather than a help to the natural growth of the Congress" is visible in every word of what he has said. Whether one agrees with him or not, there is not one who will not be filled up with admiration for his character and personality.—"A. B. Patrika."



From an official report: "The number of offences reported in the year under review (1933) is the highest ever recorded in Oudh, but this does not mean that there has been an increase in general lawlessness or in the number of heinous crimes."

Of course it does not mean that. Civil Disobedience offences have to be distinguished from lawless or heinous crimes.

Ex-Dewan Defends Gandhiji

Congress Lead On Award Quite Correct

Malaviya's Attitude Will Mean Longer Lease To Foreign Domination, Says Lathe

(From A Correspondent.)

BELGAUM, Sept. 21.

Dewan Bahadur Lathe addressed a large gathering last evening on the political and communal problem, Mr. Belvi presiding.

The lecturer began by explaining how the growth of Democratic Institutions have, paradoxical as it, may appear, accentuated the communal differences and distrust. However unfortunate this may be, its causes lie imbedded in the long History of India, and in the present social intellectual and economic differences dividing the communities and castes in the country. It was unwise, therefore, to condemn the advocates of communal claims as selfish unpatriotic or instigated by outsiders

Some may be so. But majority of them see causes for fear in the predominance of certain communities. The only way to get out of this unfortunate situation was to remove those causes and till that is done, to allow concessions and safeguards which minorities and weaker communities demand. The alternative to this would be perpetual communal fights which would make Self-Government such as we urgently want impossible.

DISTRUST IN BENGAL.

Referring to the Hindu Muslim question Mr. Lathe pointed out that the backwardness of Muslims in many matters in Bengal and other provinces gave plausibility to their distrust of Hindu majority and partly at least advanced Hindus were responsible for it. Some Hindu Leaders think that in yielding separate electorates, weightages, or other advantages to Mussalmans they have favoured them too much and now they must make a decisive stand against the Communal Award while agreeing with the view that these concessions are against nationalism and against true responsible democracy in India Mr. Lathe contended that owing to many causes they were unavoidable and it was no good kicking at facts.

On the contrary such attitude perpetuates communal distrust. There were some Hindu Leaders who tell Hindus to win Swaraj inspite of Mussalmans. That was, said the lecturer, impossible. He showed by citing illustrations from Maratha History that even a small minority could undermine the strength of a country by opposition.

If they want Swaraj immediately, as they do want it. For National progress, the only policy for them to follow is to make peace with communities at all costs and seek to remedy the undesirable features in the communal settlement by inducing the masses of communities and castes concerned to see by experience the futility of communal spirit dominating politics as it does to-day. Even Mussalman masses will soon realise if Hindus adopt a conciliatory attitude that their real interets lie in nationalism.

If they do not believe this, it means that they do not have any faith in the unity or identity of national interests.

MALAVIYA'S ATTITUDE.

Mr. Lathe concluded by showing that the present attitude of Pandit Malaviya's Party will not lead to a revision of the Award and will certainly force upon India, a constitution even worse than the White Paper scheme which will mean another long lease to Foreign Domination of Indian interests.

The only right attitude in the matter, according to the lecturer was the one adopted by the Congress Working Committee under Gandhiji's lead which exposes the faults of the Award but does not antagonise reasonable Muslim opinion by preparing for an internal fight between Hindus and Muslims. This was the only wise and practical policy which the country must follow.

Mr. Belvi, in his concluding speech said they must follow the footsteps of the Late Lokamanya Tilak who said that it did not matter much even if all powers were taken by their Mussalman countrymen if that was necessary to transfer it from Foreign to Indian hands.

ASSEMBLY CONTEST COMPROMISE

Mahatma And Aney Issue Joint Statement

WARDHA, Sept. 20.

Mr. Aney saw Mahatma Gandhi to-day, and had a talk with him regarding the selection of candidates by the Parliamentary Board and the Nationalist Party respectively for the coming Assembly elections. They issued the following joint statement to the Press:—

"As a result of conversations, we have come to the conclusion that it should be common cause between the Parliamentary Board and the Nationalist Party that wheresoever between rival candidates it is manifest that one candidate has an overwhelming chance against another, the latter should be withdrawn.

"Not having sufficient material before us, it was not possible to make any recommendation as to the chances of success of rival candidates whose names were before us. Nor had any of us any authority to come to any decision. It was enough for us to be able to enunciate the principle which we have done. We may also state that we met together purely as friends and co-workers without being deputed by the respective parties. Our purpose was to find ways and means of avoiding a domestic conflict."

JAMNADAS MEHTA'S LECTURE

The Secretary Keshavji Naik Chawl Ganpati Utsav Committee writes:

Mr. Jamnadas Mehta, the "Democratic Swarajist," who contests the Assembly elections against the Congress candidates, was invited to speak at the Ganpati Utsav Mandap at the Keshavji Naik's Chawl.

When Mr. Mehta commenced his speech some young men from the audience tore to bits copies of Mr. Jamnadas's election manifesto which had been circulated among the audience. Later on one of them asked Mr. Jamnadas to speak in Hindi, but he preferred to speak in English and went on to discuss the Communal Award controversy. One of the young men interrupted the speaker Mr. Jamnadas told him that the resolution of the Karachi Congress stood for complete liberty of speech and that if he was a Congress man he ought not to interrupt him. But as the young man still continued his interruption the organisers asked him either to leave or to behave. In the meantime the crowds grew larger. And later on the police came on the scene and quiet was restored. Mr. Jamnadas then continued his speech and the meeting came to an end.

SIR SOWASJI PLEADS FOR "W. P."

"Do not talk of the rejection of the White Paper, because we are not going to reject it, and those that say they are going into the Assembly to reject it, talk bluff." so said Sir Cowasji Jehangir in the course of a lecture he delivered on Friday under the auspices of the Catholic Students' Union at Thakurdwar.

Dr. Colaco presided.

The subject of the lacture was: "Our Present Political Situation."

Commencing with a resume of the political developments of the country since the first Round Table Conference, Sir Cowasji tried to show that the Liberal Party, of which he was a member, had always acted in the best interests of the country. He pointed out that the failure of the R. T. C. and the subsequent issue of the White Paper was due mainly to two reasons. "Firstly, the Labour Government was superseded by the National Government which was conservative in view and secondly by the actions of our countrymen."

THEY ARE LIARS.

"There will be some mischiefmongers in this country," he said, "who would tell you that those who went to England accepted the White Paper. I tell you they are liars. I can say, without fear of contradiction that there is no school of thought that will accept this White Paper."

Speaking of the difference between the goal of the Liberals and the Congress, Sir Cowasji said that while the Congress stood for complete independence, the Liberals claimed Dominion Status. The Congress flirted with communism while the Liberals kept aloof from it.

Sir Cawasji further said that as India was not a united nation she was not fit for Independence, and if at all she should get it, it would end in rack and ruin."

SITUATION IN SPAIN

Revolutionary Movement Crippled?

MARTIAL LAW TO BE ENFORCED, IF NEEDED

MADRID, Sept. 20.

The citizens have been reassured that their peace is not threatened by an immediate revolutionary outbreak, but while disbelieving the story that several public buildings were only just saved from being dynamited, they are sure that the Socialists intend to provoke a conflict sooner or later.

WOMEN MAGISTRATES FOR LUCKNOW

A Welcome Move

Lucknow will soon have the unique distinction—so far as the United Provinces are concerned—of having a bench of honorary magistrates consisting solely of women.

It is generally believed that the bench which will come into existence by the middle of October will consist of Mrs. E. A. Shah as president and Mrs. H. S. Gupta and Begum Habibullah.

The bench will be invested with the powers of a Second Class Magistrate and will try cases in which women and juveniles are concerned.

Criminologists welcome the move initiated by the U. P. Government and are of opinion that the women magistrates will be able to understand better the psychology of juvenile offenders and try this type of cases with more understanding and insight.—"Pioneer."

ANOMALIES IN TRUNK TELEPHONE RATES

SIMLA, Sept. 21.

The Associated Press understands that from October 1, full rate telephone trunk calls of three minutes' duration between any two places within the limits of British India will be subject to a maximum of Rs. 10 excluding incidental charges such as particular person fees. Similarly the maximum rate for half-rate calls will be Rs. 5.

With the extension of the telephone trunk system into Southern India and a further extension, in the near future, into Assam, the ordinary radial rates for long-distance calls are somewhat prohibitive and it is hoped that this concession will result in a considerable increase in the number of such calls. It is further learnt that in order to rationalise the telephone rate structure throughout India it has been decided to abolish from October 1, all concessional trunk rates.

It is understood that in 1925-26 when trunk communication was first established between Bombay and Delhi via Surat and Agra, and between Calcutta and Delhi via Patna, Lucknow and Bareilly a concessional maximum rate of Rs. 5 was sanctioned for calls between towns on these two routes in order to popularise the use of the trunk system.

Similar concessions were not enjoyed by other towns which were subsequently connected to the trunk system. As a result, anomalies have arisen whereby the rates from places like Hapur and Aligarh to Bombay and Calcutta are considerably greater than the rates from Delhi. The existence of such anomalies is not only unjustified but also introduces complications in the general rate system.—A. P.

"ALL LOST IF ZANZIBAR IS LOST"

Charlie Andrews To Discuss Issues With Mahatma

SHANTINIKETAN, Sept. 21.

In the course of a statement to the "United Press" Reverend Andrews who has not yet recovered from indisposition said:—

"Two great anxieties are in my mind now. Firstly Pandit Jawaharlal should be immediately and unconditionally released. Every claim of humanity makes such an action by the Government a supreme necessity.

"Second question in my mind day and night is that of Zanzibar. I can see great difficulty in the way of Land Alienation Ordinance being repealed without almost superhuman effort. In this connection a proposal has been made recently by the Editor "Zanzibar Post" that a Tripartite Conference should be held between the three Governments, Great Britain, India and Zanzibar, during the period of one year's moratorium so that an agreement may be reached.

"This idea has not yet been ventilated and I propose to talk it over with Gandhiji and others including Sir Purshottamdas Thakurdas before I leave India on October 6 next. I am not yet convinced of the wisdom of such a step. However I regard the Zanzibar issue as of first rate political importance for the future of India.

"Rt. Hon'ble Mr. Srinivas Sastri said on one occasion if Kenya was lost, all was lost. I feel inclined to say to-day if Zanzibar is lost, all is lost.

"With regard to the East Coast of Africa this seems obviously true."—United Press.

determination—the principle for which the Congress stands. The rest were merely what you might call Politicians who let out more hot air than wisdom. That one man who kept his head about his shoulders was Mahatma Gandhi. It certainly was not Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya who to-day plays the distinguished part of causing a rift in an institution to which he owes so much.

Apple Of Discord.

Let us, however, proceed with the merits of the case. The Pundit's argument that the Award is anti-national, anti-Hindu and anti-everything does not take us far, for after all I doubt if the Pundit himself expected a fairer distribution of seats at the hands of the British Government. I am aware that there are many Muslims in this country who honestly believe that the Pundit's opposition to the Award has been actuated more on account of the cause of the Hindus than on account of the anti-national character of the Award itself. There is a good deal of logic in the argument that one of the signatories of the famous Lucknow Pact has little reason to quarrel with the Award on the ground that it advocates separate electorates for the Indian masses. Nor does it redound to the Pundit's credit that he should now take cudgels against Mr. Ramsay MacDonald in as much as the Award was given only after the breakup of the Minority Committee—a break-up for which the Pundit himself must bear a large measure of blame. It is also no use complaining that Mr. MacDonald is no more the author of the Award than the child unborn, and that the distribution in question is no more an Award than the arbitration which the monkey effected in the story relating to the two cats who disagreed on the division of a piece of bread. It is not an accident that the Award seeks to reward the various communities in degrees proportionate to their loyalties to the British. That the Pundit had his bite first only demonstrates that the Indians at best are only novices in political games.

Neutrality Justified.

The above minor injustices apart, the one aspect which is the most disturbing about the Award is where it seeks to violate that great principle that in purely domestic affairs India is to enjoy the right of self-determination. This is precisely the issue over which the Pundit and the Congress differ. It is as refreshing as it is logical that the Congress does not lend its support to a course of action which shall have the result of compromising its own pronounced views on a vital issue, notwithstanding the number and importance of the persons who are ranged against it. The Congress is neutral because it ignores the Award. The neutrality is further justified because the Congress denies, and has always denied, to all outside bodies the right to interfere in India's domestic problems. The Congress rightly believes that a solution for the communal question can be got at only through an agreement between the leaders of the various communities in India. When that is achieved, as I hope it will be, the Award shall be as dead as the door nail.

There are yet other reasons why the Congress should be neutral on the Premier's Award. In the first place the Congress is not bound either to accept or to reject it for the very good reason that its representative at London did not, consistently with his prior resolutions, either invite the Premier to give an award or promise to abide by it when one was given. It is, however, on record that Mr. Malaviya did leave the question to be adjudicated upon by the Premier. Secondly the Congress should not and does not accept the Award because it is convinced the Award, conceived as it is in total disregard of all known democratic and parliamentary principles, is likely to do more harm than good to the country. Finally the Congress rightly holds that as a national institution it should not reject the Award lest it should be branded as a pro-Hindu organisation.

Side by side with the Congress programee let us also examine the chances and the programme of the Nationalist party.

We have it from the Nationalists themselves that it is their aim to pass a hostile vote on the Award in the Assembly and then to lead a deputation to the Viceroy and to the Secretary of State at Whitehall with the intention of getting the Award scrapped. Any casual observer can easily see that it is monstrous to call this clique a party. Its objectives are so petty, its programme so barren and its hopes so futile that I wonder if our revered Pundit could have received any support at all in any country in the world—India of course, excepted.

Vote For Congress

In conclusion I must make an appeal, and a sincere one at that, to my Hindu brethren both in Bombay and elsewhere not to create an atmosphere of distrust and suspicion in the country and thereby place further handicaps in the way of the Congress whose one desire is to bring about complete unity between the Muslim and the Hindu. With regard to the election itself, although I am doubly sure about the Congress success, it is but right that I remind the voters that the attitude of the Congress is the correct one. It is logical, consistent and dignified. A vote to the Congress is a vote for National solidarity, whereas a vote to the Nationalists is a vote to the enemies of Indian Unity. I am sure that intelligent voters all over the country will flock in their thousands and register their votes solidly in support of the Congress and its policy.

(Through the Publicity Bureau of Reception Committee.)

The date for the opening of the All-India Khadi Exhibition and Swadeshi Bazaar to be held along with the Congress Session in October has now been fixed.

Khan Abdul Gaffar Khan, the great Red-shirt leader of the North Western Frontier Province has been approached to perform the opening ceremony which is fixed for 20th October at 5 p.m.

This year's exhibition promises to be of great demonstrative value. For example the Khadi Court in the Exhibition will be divided into three or four separate sections. One section is the self-sufficiency section. In it will be demonstrated the life of the peasant, who lives by his toil and how Khadder helps him in making his home self-sufficient and contended. The second section will the demonstrative section. In it will be shown all the processes of khadi production. The third section will be an emporium giving charts and samples of khaddar in all its varieties and at various stages of development. The value of such an arrangement cannot be gainsaid.

Plans for the arrangement of exhibits are already complete and those who have already booked their stalls are required to call at the Exhibition Office, Congress House, to take their certificates for the stalls by paying the balance of the rents. There are only a few stalls still left and those manufacturers and exhibitors who want their goods to be displayed at the Exhibition will do well not to delay any longer in booking their stalls.

MOST IMPORTANT UNIT IN GOVERNMENT

Mrs. Munshi On Responsibilities Of Volunteers

(Through the Publicity Bureau of Reception Committee.)

The third training class for volunteers enrolled in 'C' Ward for service during the Congress Session was opened at Lal Baug (Madhav Baug) on Thursday night by Mrs. Lilavati Munshi.

In opening the camp Mrs Munshi said:—

"The army is the most important unit in the government organisation of every nation. The volunteer organisation is much more so in the Congress. A Congress volunteer is expected to be courteous but firm to be disciplined and conscious of his responsibilities, and to know that he is there to serve and not to command.

On the contrary, a soldier in the army of the Government is not as much for the service of the nation as he is intended for purposes of the Government under which he serves. To the soldier is imparted the cult of violence and destruction as also the use of arms, while the Congress volunteer is instructed in the cult of non-violence, truth and service of humanity. In the non-violent soldier of the Congress one can find the martyr in the cause of freedom and duty to one's country."

It would thus be clear continued Mrs. Munshi to the cadets that during Congress Session they had taken upon themselves a grave responsibility. It was no exaggeration to say that in their ability, discipline and organisation depended to a very large extent the very success of the Congress session. Though a Congress volunteer while on duty had no politics, he was at the same time a political worker, but while on duty his political allegiance should not interfere with his sense of duty as a soldier.

The G O C was his supreme head and his orders or of the officers appointed by him should be implicitly obeyed for in such obedience alone could one find the hope and the growth of a disciplined volunteer force. It was a truism to say that it was only those who knew how to obey, could command"

She then declared the camp open after which she inspected the cadets.

CONGRESS RECEPTION COMMITTEE

Working Committee Meeting

A meeting of the Working Committee of the Congress Reception Committee will be held at the Congress House to-day (Saturday), at 6 p.m. (S.T.)

NATION'S FUTURE IN BALANCE

The Congress Session is to be held in Bombay. The Last word on Gandhiji's retirement from the field of the active congress politics rests with it.

Gandhiji's historic statement reveals the workings of his mind, the conflicts and joys of his heart

The Congress delegates from all over India and the citizens of Bombay are put to a trial and they shall have to prepare themselves to submit their accounts to Gandhiji in the open Session on the Worli sea-face. The Nation's future is in balance and the form of the decision taken will decide the future course of events.

The spirit of the statement lies in Khadi and nothing but Khadi. At least to this end the Bombay citizens must lend a sympathetic ear and act accordingly.

Through the Khadi Sales during the Jayanti it will be evident that the citizens of Bombay have full faith in both the Congress and Gandhiji

Girls of Pupils' Own School, Ville Parle, will stage Tagore's "Educating the Parrot" at the Royal Opera House on October 4.

Out Of The Mouth Of An Indian Ruler

"Our Education And Our Experience Of Rule Are An Insult To Ourselves And The Martyrdom Of Our Subjects"

To the progressive Englishman who no longer wishes to dominate India, the Indian Rajah seems an anachronism. He is apt to imagine him a petty tyrant, wielding almost unlimited powers within his own territory. To the British Government the Princes are a very useful institution, to be preserved as a camouflage for British authority in districts where it might otherwise not run effectively. The situation as it appears to an Indian Prince himself is seldom stated or understood in this country writes an "Humble Member of the Fallen Order in the "New Statesman."

First consider the contrast between the nominal and the actual relation between the Prince and the Crown. In the Proclamation of 1858 the Sovereign of Great Britain declared:

We shall respect the rights, dignity and honour of Native Princes as Our own; and We desire that they, as well as Our own subjects, should enjoy that prosperity and that social advancement which can only be secured by internal peace and good government.

In pratice the rights and dignity of these reigning Houses have been abrogated wherever the British Government thought fit. The reasons may sometimes have been good and sometimes bad; in any case there has been no respect for the rights of the Indian Prince. Instances of the arrest, imprisonment, and deposition of Indian Princes by the British Government could be quoted to the length of several pages. It is truly said that the word of a white man to a white man may be his bond, but the word of a white man to a coloured man is—well—scarcely so binding.

FARCE OF "EDUCATION."

To the average Englishman the word "Rajah" probably suggests a number of things varying from the romantic luxury which stirs the society papers into ecstasy to indecent adventure in the back streets of university towns. Let me outline a type of experience which is the common lot of most Indian Princes. First, his education—an education, nominally, for the exercise of sovereign authority.

If there is anything more calculated to unfit a man for rule than the environment in which the average Indian Prince receives his education, it is the substance of that education itself. In the handful of large, powerful States, of course, the parents of the future ruler have a certain say in his upbringing, but in nearly all weaker States, and in most States under minority rule, the Government ordains directly, or indirectly, where the hir eshall receive his education. After a procedure which rather resembles that of some latter-day press-gang, the future ruler finds himself in one of the "Chiefs' Colleges" which the Government has established in India. The age of the students varies from about seven years to the age at which they may ascend their thrones. In these Colleges the absurdities, the grotesque, laughable absurdities of Imperialism, are to be found as perhaps nowhere else. The standard and character of the instruction received might seem to be designed to create in the pupil that solid imperviousness to the things of the mind that has become the characteristic glory of the English Public School. Young men who sometimes went direct from the College to the throne were (I speak of my own experience) not given even the most elementary grounding in economics, in political organisation, or in the essentials of beneficent administration. It is true that our Chiron taught us a little history as the spirit moved him, but the Government of India is not fond of history. In less orthodox studies, however, the Government showed decided originality. In our College we had to keep a daily diary for which marks were awarded. As the entries were read aloud by the instructor, it may well be imagined what a scope was offered for that peculiarly flowery flattery that is one of the most deplorable attributes of the Eastern mentality (almost as deplorable as the willingness of the Western mentality to be pleased by it). Not unnaturally ,the diary was a popular institution with the masters of the College. But it was never forgotten that there are Alexanders as well as Solomons, and the disciplinary function of education was enforced with zeal and determination.

Military drill was compulsory for all. Next in importance came membership of the Scout troop, which was voluntary (cf. any English O.T.C.) Some politicians have a very vivid way of personifying the glories of the Empire, but the spectacle of a number of Indian boys of all ages, desperately awkward and unhappy in their Scout regalia, dancing round an elderly Civil Servant, chanting the elevating refrain:

"Welcome here, sir, blank, blank
Chief Scout,
Welcome here Chief Scout,
blank, blank,"

—is a sight that has to be seen to be believed, and one, I am sure, destined to immortality in Clio's Jest-book.

DEPENDENCE WRIT LARGE.

This education sets the tenor of the Indian ruler's life, and epitomises it. The political life of a ruling Prince is a sort of perpetual Scout meeting. Even if he survives his education, he is constantly thwarted in his endeavour to reform or develop his State, while every inducement is offered him to lead the old, useless existence of the Palace, as so many, alas, of his ancestors have led before him. At every step he encounters the Government's monopoly (the political monopoly has already been touched upon)—a monopoly extending over a huge field, from salt and opium to all forms of communication, notably civil aviation. The Political Officer is his Scoutmaster, (There are also in some States British officials—needless to say this a privileged position.) The Prince is never allowed to forget his impotence, his dependence. A relation of mine.

was forced to alter his private notepaper because his ancient heraldic insignia happened to contain a crown. No one may speak of his "dynasty"—only of his "family". The generic term "royalty" is denied to the Indian Rajah—although radically it is derived from the Sanscrit "Rajan" through the Latin Rex, whereby all European royalty expresses itself even to-day. A Prince is not allowed to reign according to the modern reedition of our political dictionary. If a ruler or a Prince desires to travel he has to apply for a Government Passport (eligible for "British Empire and all countries of Europe excluding Soviet Russia"), and if the issuer thereof is in a spiteful temper, he may well find himself described as "Mr.——, British subject". If the native ruler has in his employ any British or Eurasian person, that person has official precedence before all Indian officials in the State, however high their rank. Certainly his education fits the Indian Prince for the experience of sovereignty.

The position of the Native States is one of the most fundamental considerations of India's future; it is this fact that turns all the Boy Scout comedy of the ruler's life into gigantic tragedy. Yet nothing is done. Even in the White Paper the dead hand of the Company still rules the Native States. The case of the Indian Prince-hood to-day is simple: like the English House of Lords (although the two are scarcely comparable), we desire either to be abolished or to be made an effective reality. Our education and our experience of rule are an insult to ourselves and the martyrdom of our subjects. "The examples of Princes, to those that see them, are, and ever have been, more potent to form their actions than the Lawes themselves". I recommend that precept of Hobbes to the Government of India. But perhaps the Government has known it a long time.

"EDUCATING PARROT" ON STAGE

Forthcoming Performance By Pupils' Own School

The Pupil's Own School, Ville Parle, has arranged to give a dramatic performance at the Royal Opera House on October 4, at 9-30 p.m.

The performance will be full of dances and songs, which have been taught by experts from Dr. Tagore's Vishwabharati at Shantiniketan. The dances have been taught by a Manipur expert, Sjt. Nobo-Kumar Thakur.

Unlike the last performance in which the songs were in Bengali all the songs as well as the dialogues will this time be in Gujarati.

The play chosen is called "Educating The Parrot" and is a dramatization of the well-known Parable of the Parrot by Tagore. It is a production of Sjt. Bachubhai Sukla, a teacher of the School, who has also directed the acting of the play. The dresses and stage effects which are a special feature of the performances of this school will be planned by Mrs. Vakil and Sjt. V. S. Masoji, a Santiniketan Artist

After staging the play in Bombay, the children, accompanied by their teachers will tour Gujerat and give performances at Baroda, Ahmedabad, Surat and Bhavnagar during the second week of October. At Bhavnagar Sir Prabhashankar Pattani, will preside over the performance.

A Bannu message states:—The Reception Committee of the 48th Session of the Indian National Congress has decided to extend invitation to 25 Congress Red Shirt volunteers of the Frontier Province to help in the management in connction with the Congress.

ART STUDENTS STAGE

Music, Dance, Drama Programme

(By Our Art Critic.)

Students of the Sir J. J. School of Art were seen with busy enthusiasm crowding in at the Opera House on Thursday evening, naturally. For it was, perhaps, the first time in the history of the School that the students undertook to employ the public stage for giving expression to their feelings, and ideas about the many-sided recent movements in music, the dance and the drama. They were more than justified in their aspiration and more than amply rewarded by the responsive cordiality of the audience which witnessed their programme with intense interest and keen attention. It was arranged to aid the funds which the Western India Regional Committee has been collecting for the despatch of the exhibits meant for the forthcoming London exhibition of modern Indian paintings organised by the India Society. Sir Phiroze Sethna who along with Lady Beaumont, represented the Committee on the occasion, thanked the friends of art and of the School for the kind manner in which they received the appeal for help and encouragement from the students. He regretted the absence of Syt. M. R. Jayakar. Syt. Jayakar would like to have, observed Sir Phiroze Sethna, attended the function but was prevented from doing so as he was that evening presiding at another public meeting at the C. J. Hall. Sir Phiroze felt assured that he was expressing the feelings of the house when he said that the students had, during the short time they were spared, prepared an entertainment that left little room for complaint. He appreciated the students' deep attachment to the School and congratulated Mr. Foster King, the acting Director who, during the absence of Capt. Gladstone Solomon, had worked not less hard than the staff and the students to make the evening's show a success.

The Marathi, English and Hindi playlets were apparently suggestive of the cosmopolitan needs of the student community of the School. The Marathi plays, though carefully worked out, were not as well received as the English and Hindi plays. The English comedy "As Like as Two Peas" was easily the best, both in acting and dialogue. The Hindi play "Shah Jehan" was thoughtfully staged, particularly noticeable was the care with which the atmosphere of the Mughal Court was maintained by suggestive details in costume, in furniture and, decidedly, in the manner in which the figures found their entry and exit. If Syt. Ahibasi could have varied his high pitched soliloquies, he would have been more effective as "Shah Jehan", Kumari Nirmalla Motiwalla as "Zehanarra" could more than compensate for the defect. She acted her part in the right spirit and with feeling. She gave meaning to the dialogue to the play. Like her colleague Miss Bird—her effective acting focussed attention. Mr. Pavri's interpretation of the gallant lawyer was almost flawless. Miss Perin Mistri seemed diffident but not less skilled. Mr. Dhondi's comic part was perfect and right drollery. Mr. Jambhikar's mimicry was eloquent and long-drawn. The Indian orchestra was arranged and conducted efficiently and could easily have taken the place of many similar ventures accepted as "professional."

The "Statue Posing" was rather an unusual but certainly an outstanding feature of the evening. The picture of the "Slave" was vividly plastic. Srimati Miravati Devi and Syt. Srinivas' "Agui Pulli" seemed more pleasant than their "Radha-Krishna" dance. Syt. Bajpaye's rendering of the ever recurring "Kite" and "Snake" dance revealed natural dexterity in footwork destroyed by the crude banality of the other movements of the body. Syt. Natraj Vasi was, unquestionably, the best dance exponent of the evening. He has alertness, sense of rhythm and agility of a slim body which enables him to communicate the joy of the dance across the footlights.

The "Punishment of the Dancer" was composed with intelligent stage sense. The music and the "sets" were appropriate Kumari G. Shete, as the dancer, moved with charming, freedom and expression. Syt. Shukla, as the king, was evidently ferociously dignified.

The "Garba" dance, in its setting and costume was a pleasant departure. The festoon of leaves, the "tranna," the wide-spread plaintain trees—the sprinkling of flowers and "Gulab" together with the "Chemki" gave the dance a tone that is usually absent in the prevalent crazy for absurdities in "Garba". Only, the "Krishna" could not escape the "wooly" effiminacy that seems almost invariably, to damage the "Radha-Krishna" dances.

Applications are now invited from persons or firms desirous of acting as Selling Agents at the ports stating the terms on which they are prepared to work. They should be sent to the Secretary, Indian Sugar Mills Association, 135, Canning Street, Calcutta, before the end of September, 1934.

MUSLIM UNITY BOARD

Preparations For Assembly Elections

An emergent meeting of the All-India Muslim Unity Board will be held at Maulana Shaukat Ali's house in Moradabad on September 23 at 10 a.m. to decide some important questions including the nomination of more candidates for various constituencies of the Legislative Assembly.

All organisations who are members of the Board have been requested through the Press to instruct their representatives to attend this meeting. Members of the District Unity Board are also invited to the meeting.

A public meeting will also be held at Moradabad on September 23.

An emergent meeting of the Working Committee of the Jamiatul Ulema Cawnpore has also been called for the same day and will meet at 3 p.m.

As a result of the Moradabad Returning Officer's ruling disqualifying Maulana Shaukat Ali from the voters list of the Rohilhkand constituency, it is understood that Maulana Shaukat Ali will seek election from the seven cities constituency.

Though the final selection will be made at Moradabad meeting, it appears that Sir Mohammad Yaqub will be opposed by one of the Unity Board candidates. Efforts are being made in this connection to persuade Nawab Mohammad Ismail Khan to oppose Sir Mohammad Yakub. In case these efforts fail, Hafiz Mohammad Ibrahim is certain to stand on the Unity Board ticket for this seat.

Nawab Mohammad Ismail Khan will then probably contest the Meerut Division seat.

The Board has been receiving offer from candidates from all over India and it appears that out of the 30 Muslim seats the Board might contest at least 24 of them.—"Pioneer."

"AFGHANS RESPECT SIKHS"

News Of Reported Abduction Of Sikh Ladies Contradicted

AMRITSAR, Sept. 21.

"The Sikh people are greatly respected in Afghanistan and Afghans show a special sympathy towards them and the whole Afghan nation as well as the Afghan Government like the Sikh community," says the Royal Consul-General for Afghanistan in India, replying to a communication from Sardar S. S. Charan Singh, enquiring about the reported abduction of two Sikh ladies from Karabagh.

Contradicting the news, the Consul-General concludes, "The Afghans are naturally respectful towards the ladies and their nobility. Moreover, if Karabagh is the place of the particular event, there are two places of this name in Afghanistan and in neither of the two, there live any Sikh ladies and if it is Karabagh, it is situated in British territory and has no concern with Afghanistan."—United Press.

MAURICE CHEVALIER

At The Edward

That smiling faced French singer is also featured at The Edward in "Big Pond". We find him first as an unemployed man in search of a job. In order to earn his livelihood, poor Maurice is compelled to accept service as a labourer in a big chewing gum factory. There also serious situation arises between him and his employer and he is dismissed. Poor Maurice's immediate superior being a regular drunkard meets with an accident in the factory. Luck favours Maurice and he manufactures new chewing gum. As fate would have it, his sweetheart (daughter of the owner of the factory) leaves him as he becomes a very busy man, and he cannot spare time to take her out for enjoyments as before. It will be very delightful to see how Maurice wins her back and becomes the owner of the factory himself. There are also some popular song hits in the film.

"HOUSE ON THE 56TH STREET"

At The Pathe

Here is a picure vastly different and vastly entertaining. Kay Francis is a gem that sparkles throughout. Kay Francis is always a glowing and distinguished actress, but we daresay that even her most sincere admirers will not be prepared for the unexpected display of dramatic depth and power she gives in her latest Warner Bros. Production, "The House on 56th Street," which is released at Pathe to-day. Never has the star looked lovelier than in the numerous checkered chapters of her career as Peggy, Broadway showgirl, bride of a Manhattan aristocrat, and later as a shrewd, worldly woman using her inherited gifts as a gambler's daughter to make her way in a world that has otherwise ostracized her. Even in the drab costume of a woman convict, there is a dignity and state lines about her that lend poignancy to the grim scenes behind the bars of Auburn prison. The contrast made all the more vivid the star's emergence from the penitentiary when, with the aid of modistes and beauty parlor experts, she creates a new personality for herself, outwits the inquisitive newspapers men, and flees abroad to begin life as another person. In the final chapters of her story, when an ironic fate brings her back to New York to deal black-jack in the very house she had occupied as the gayest and most envied bride of a generation before—the house on 56th Street—Miss Francis is magnificent in her restraint and the sureness with which she handles the situations that confront her. In its sweep across thirty years of life in New York and Europe before and after the war, the drama loses nothing in strength or tempo as it follows its ill-fated heroine in her tumultuous experiences with chance and circumstance. The four men who are the nominating factors in Peggy's life are all compelling characters, played by able actors, and shrewdly contrasted with one another. John Halliday's performance as the older man who loves Peggy well younger to yield gracefully to a younger rival yet becomes the instrument of her conviction and punishment later, is one of the finest things this gifted actor has done on the screen. Gene Raymond as Monte Van Tyle, who marries her from the chorus of the Casino Theatre, is sincere and convincing. Ricardo Cortez is at his suavest and best as the transatlantic gambler with whom Peggy her lost as a business partner during the years following her release from prison. As Bonelli, the hard-boiled speakeasy proprietor who insists upon having Peggy herself as the price of his silence for the killing of Cortez, William Boyd isl a wise choice for the role. Margaret Lindsay in the part of Peggy's daughter is vividly real in the scenes that precede the powerful climax of the story.

sighted in the pursuit of their avowed objectives.

This "Crammers" Craze

A university has often been defined as a centre of higher learning. The description implies that it is the one place in the matrix of a nation's life, where creative intelligence can be freely developed and allowed to work on the constantly emerging problems and issues of contemporary life as well as the ever-recurring problems of standards and values. So long as University degrees continue, by Statute, to be a pre-requisite for most of the higher services, Universities will certainly provide the large majority of Government servants. But an attempt to interfere with the freedom of University work and syllabuses in the interests of any competitive examinations or the demands of services is suicidal to that free-life of thought and research and cultural pre-occupations which should be the concern of every true university. When students are inspired not with the love of knowledge or the desire for the intelligent study of human problems and the intelligent service of great human purposes, but with the hope of passing certain external examinations, the entire object of university education is defeated. If the standards of University teaching are satisfactory and examinations are intelligently organised, some students will take them in the stride, as it were, instead of concentrating on them as the goal of their endeavour. Otherwise, it will mean that the educational needs and values of a large majority will be perverted in the interests of a small prize minority. It will tend appreciably to lower the standard of true scholarship for the sake of a limited and mechanical efficiency in passing examinations and thus do an incalculable harm to universities as centres of intellectual life. This is what is happening now at some universities and unless the situation is retrieved by clear thinking and concerted action on the part of educationists, I am afraid this unintellectual tradition will spread to all Indian universities and 'crammers' will be appointed to coach the best students for these examinations. And who knows but that these 'crammers' may, in due course, take precedence over professors whose concern is, and should be, not so much with coaching their students for competitive successes as cultivating in them a respect for sincerity and truth, a high sense of scholarship, a love and earnestness for intellectual and cultural values, and a desire to realize them in their individual and social life.

Intellectual Watch-Towers

Worldly successes, efficiency in examinations, the admission to highly prized services may be 'added unto them' as bye-products; but they should never be the conscious ends and objectives pursued by the students, for that would not only bring down the standards of genuine scholarship but also tend to narrow down their interests and mental perspective. I realize that this is a rather unwelcome point of view to press in these days; it is 'too idealistic,' 'too far removed' from the actualities of life,' 'too high-browed.' But I do not know where ideals and far-sighted vision are to find refuge in modern civilization, if not in universities, which are meant to serve not merely as centres of training for the adolescents but as intellectual 'watch-towers' set up by the people for the guidance of their destinies. And where, if not in the universities, shall we expect an eager recognition of the fact that the understanding of the world through the pursuit of knowledge is an absolute and ultimate good?

"TUFANI TARUNI"

At The Roxy

The management has decided to show at the Roxy, Indian pictures commencing with Ranjit's "Naughty Girl" from this Saturday.

It has a popular cast (Gohar, Billimoria and others) and a very snappy story which presents Gohar in an entirely novel and surprisingly agreeable role of a "Naughty Girl".

Ramon Novarro stars with Lupe Valez in "Laughing Boy" at the Regal.

JANET GAYNOR AND CHARLES FARRELL IN "CHANGE OF HEART"

At The Wellington

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell score personal triumphs in "Change of Heart" their first co-starring vehicle in 18 months, which is screened this week at the Wellington. It's a story big enough for their reunion—Kathleen Morris' romance of modern youth wrestling love and happiness out of a skyscraper world. The novel appeared under the title "Manhattan Love Song" and it is amid the topless towers of New York that the romance of America's sweethearts unfolds.

"Change of Heart" brings you a new, grown-up Janet Gaynor. She's a vivid, real-life heroine, grown to womanhood, and experiencing all the emotions of a woman. And Farrell is no longer the dreaming boy, but a man who challenges the world and faces its confusion and cross-currents of life. James Dunn and Ginger Rogers complete the quartette of youth around which the drama revolves.

The story is a drama of epic struggle and inspiring love. It portrays with astounding realism the hardships of four youngsters just out of college, two girls and two boys. Banded together by ties of loyalty, they enter the portals of a big city and begin their brave fight to realize their ambitions. Through all their adventures runs a complex love situation. The love of Janet Gaynor for Farrell, however, soon becomes the focal interest of the plot. Farrell finally realises his love for Gaynor and when Ginger Rogers returns from a trip, he faces a showdown as to whether he will remain faithful to Janet or be lured away by an old yearning for Ginger Rogers.

The love scene between Miss Gaynor and Farrell in an East Side tenement after she has nursed him backed to convalescence is probably unique in picture history. It's a memorable scene that ranks with the wedding scene in "Seventh Heaven" as one of the "big moments" of all time.

The two romantic teams, Gaynor and Farrell and Rogers and Dunn do splendidly in roles that are perfectly suited to their talents. Humourous touches enliven the drama. In the large supporting cast, Beryl Mercer, Gustav Von Seyffertitz, Shirley Temple, Irene Franklin, Fiske O'Hara, Drue Leyton, Mary Carr, Jane Darwell, Kenneth Thompson, Nella Walker and Barbara Barondess do nicely in their alloted roles.

Winfield Sheehan produced the picture. Under his supervision, John Blystone does a praiseworthy directoral job from the screen play by Sonya Levien and James.

RAMON NOVARRO AND LUPE VELEZ

At The Regal

Ramon Novarro portrays a starring role with Lupe Velez as the feminine lead in "Laughing Boy," stirring Indian drama filmed by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios from the famous Pulitzer Prize story, by Oliver La Farge. The picture is to be shown from today at the Regal Theatre. The story from which the new picture was adapted was one of America's "best-sellers" of a few years ago, and is probably the most widely read Indian story ever printed. It concerns the life of a young Navajo Indian who comes from the mountain regions of his reservation home to learn of life and love. Col. W. S. Van Dyke, famous globe trotting director, noted for such successes as "White Shadows in the South Seas" "Trader Horn," "Eskimo" and recently the fight drama "Prizefighter and the Lady" handled direction of the film. Novarro plays the title role of "Laughing Boy" the young Navajo who learns of love from an Indian girl of his tribe who has known the white man's civilization. This girl portrayed by Lupe Velez, uses her wiles learned in white cities, to keep him from a knowledge that would crush his depth of primitive feeling. With the exception of a role played by William Davidson, as the "heavy" the entire supporting cast is composed of more than 1,000 Navajo tribesmen. They were photographed on their native reservation in northern Arizona. Among the picture's spectacular episodes are an Indian horse race in which the riders risk life and limb for a small cash prize, a caravan of the wagons of more than 800 Navajo tribesmen, and a "squaw dance" in which 200 Indian women reveal a ceremony seldom witnessed by white people. The plot of "Laughing Boy" describes the romance of a young Navajo blood who falls in love with a girl who has spent a number of years in the midst of white civilization. The two go away together to make their home among the hills, leading a beautiful primitive existence. It is when the ruthless and cruel machinations of a disreputable white man casts a shadow over their love that the dramatic complications enter the narrative. Photography of Arizona panoramas provides a spectacular background for the action of the story.

"THE WAY TO LOVE"

At The Palace

Set against a background of roof-top dwellings, the small carnivals and musical halls of the left bank of Paris. "The Way to Love", Maurice Chevalier's starring picture for Paramount, returns to The Palace this week. That part of Parisian life which offers Maurice the more simple, more human, "down to earth" roles he so earnestly desires, presents the singing French star as a guide for a tourist agency. His job, showing the "beauties" of Paris, leads him into a romance with one beauty who isn't to be seen from the top of a sight-seeing bus. Ann Dvorak has the role. She has the job of tarjet for a villainous knife-thrower in a carnival act. Running away from her employer, she meets Chevalier, and seeks refuge in his room. But their romance meets with difficulties, when the knife-thrower seeks them out and takes the girl back.

"A SYMPHONY OF LONDON LIFE"

At The Capitol

Those older members of the cinema-going public who have been wont to bewail the passing of the "good old days," and those younger members who have often heard their elders talk of the old-time music hall should not miss, "Say It With Flowers," which opens to-day at the Capitol Theatre. In this picture not only is the atmosphere of the smoking room concert created—that cradle from which came many of our greatest entertainers—but also the performers at this concert includes several stars whose names were household words and whose loyal fans outrivalled those of any present day film star—Marie Kendall, Charles Coborn and Florrie Forde were all stars of a couple of decades ago, and in this picture they sing the songs which made them famous. Strong as the appeal of these stars undoubtedly is, this is not all that "Say It With Flowers" has to offer, for it is a story of a side of London life known and loved by all who have ever lived in the metropolis. The story is simplicity itself. Mary Clare is a London Flower Girl—one of those affable Cockney Women who sit swatched in shawls with their baskets of flowers, some of them having left girlhood behind them for fifty years—Ben Field is her husband, and the story tells of the manner in which this old Cockney couple fall upon hard times and the manner in which their neighbours helped them out. In telling this story the director has captured the ever-changing colourfulness of London markets, and peopled his scenes with typical Cockneys. "Say It With Flowers" is honest-to-goodness rousing fare for any audience.

Along with the picture is also screened a delightful musical short entitled "So This Is Harris." It includes very catchy song numbers. "Singing in the Shower" and "It can Happen to You" are two of the says that will be hummed and whistled all over Bombay quite a long while. Incidentally it may be mentioned that this is a prize-winning short, being declared as the best short of 1933.

Kay Francis in "The House on 56th Street" at the Pathe this week.

AMEENA

At The Minerva Talkies

Urdu the language of Love and of war is set off to best advantage in a typically Muslim setting—medieval Arabia, in Kali Films' Ameena opening at the Minerva this Saturday.

Niranjan Pal has written this extremely interesting tale of the love of a slave girl and her slave-dealing master. They pass through a series of calamities and not even the love of the local Harun-Al Raschid can prevail upon them to give up each other. A strong cast of artist whose mothertongue is Urdu ensures a very dramatic interpretation of the theme, Akhtar Nawaz the director also plays the chief rote to Mansoor aided abetted by Akhtari and Mehjebia. Technique is of the usual high standard.

SINGHAD

At The Krishna

A page from Maratha history—the most glorious period of national struggle! When heroes threw away their lives for the land—for Maharashtra and for their king—Shivaji!

Singhad revived at the Krishna, Talkies is a brilliant picturisation of a great battle in which Tavaji Malusera lost his life and his brother Suryaji rallied round his men and won the day.

See the rescue of a forlorn Rajput lady, intrigue and a fight in the night—enacted with grim veracity as only Marathas can! Singhad is a Prabhat Talkie—that should vouch for its excellence.

The talkie of the Popular Marathi poems sung by eminent Maratha poets will also be shown in this week at Krishna Talkies.

Guru Brishaspati in Wadia Movietone's "Vaman Avatar", running its 4th week at Super Talkies.

"SONS OF THE DESERT"

At The Carlton

When two wife-bedevilled husbands, Laurel and Hardy, find that they must attend their Lodge's convention in Chicago despite the strenuous objection of Hardy's wife, the latter invents a fictitious illness. With the assistance of a friendly horse doctor, who poses as an ethical physician a trip to Hawaii is prescribed as a sure cure with the pair leaving for Chicago instead. The resultant story-telling brings about a series of embarrassing situations, which with the assistance of Laurel and Hardy and Charley Chase, as the latters brother-in-law becomes a mirth-provoking film that should make "Sons of The Desert" the comedy hit of the year. Now playing at the Carlton Theatre the production brings out the best in that outstanding team of funsters,

VAMAN AVTAR

Fourth Week At The Super

"Four weeks and still going strong"... is the most fitting compliment that can be paid to the beautiful mythological film "Vaman Avtar" at the Super Talkies, featuring "Sangit Ratna" Firoze Dastur with Noorjehan, Master Mohmed and the great Shakespearean actor Jal Khambatta.

The all round appreciation that this picture has received is the well-merited reward for its director J. B. H. Wadia (of "Lal E-Yaman" fame) who so boldly set his imagination at play upon a great undertaking when he decided to handle this mythological subject. Joseph David, the veteran dramatist and song-writer has here shown that his pen is still as powerful and his mind as energetic as it ever was.

MONEY

Money was in good demand at the opening of the week, but the rates eased off considerably towards the end. Call funds were placed as high as 3 per cent early in the week, but yesterday they were available at about 1 to 1 1/2 per cent. The present easiness is probably due to the release of funds amounting to about Rs. 6 1/2 crores from the unconverted 4 1/2 per cent bonds. Investment in Treasury bill amounted to Rs. 1. 1/2 crores, the allotment rate being Rs. 1.6 per cent, while there were no maturities. Government have renewed the sale of intermediates from the 19th instant. The last statement of the Imperial Bank shows that Government have repaid in full Rs. 6 1/2 crores outstanding against Ways and Means borrowing. The trade demand shows an increase of Rs. 350.38 lacs. The following are the fixed deposit rates:—One month 1 1/4 per cent; Two to three months 1 1/2 per cent and Six months 2 per cent.

The statement of the Imperial Bank of India as on September 14, 1934 shows an increase of Rs. 78.12 lacs in the cash balance of the bank now standing at Rs. 26,11,00,000 as against Rs. 25.27 crores at this time last year. The percentage of cash to liabilities is 32.24, an increase of 0.66 per cent over last week. Loans, Cash credits and Inland bills discounted have all risen by Rs. 155.64 lacs, Rs. 23.91 lacs and by Rs. 23.33 lacs respectively. Government deposits are up by Rs. 223.47 lacs to Rs. 7.45 crores, while Other deposits are down by Rss 1 1/2 crores to Rs. 72.37 crores. The bank rate stands unchanged at 3 1/2 per cent.

The gilt-edged market was steady to firm as a result of firmer advices from London and sharp rise in the price of India sterling stocks. 3 per cent and 3 1/2 per cent rising from £80 3/4 and £93 3/8 to £82 5/8 and £95 3/4 respectively, within a week. 3 1/2 per cent Rupee Paper after opening at Rs. 90-12 improved to Rs. 91, but eased off to Rs. 90-11. It subsequently firmed up to Rs. 91-10 at the close. GOLD

NEW YORK COTTON MARKET
New York, Sept 21

The cotton market appeared to have fully discounted all bearish factors and prices seemed well on their way to a recovery which was assisted by favourable developments in the strike situation. However fears of increased hedge selling owing to the possibility of the suspension of the Bank head Bill somewhat restrained bullish enthusiasm.

On the other hand nearness of the loan basis at the present level of prices encouraged shorts to cover and the market was able to stage a substantial rally.

Trading in December opened at 12.84 i.e. 9 points higher than the previous closing. Trade was a fairly active buyer influenced by better Liverpool advices and firmer technical position with December rising to 12.87. At this stage some scattered hedge selling from the south appeared but the undertone continued very steady.

The New York cotton market finally closed at 12.90 with a rise of 15 points.

Wall-Street And Trade Buying In Cotton

BETTER FEELING ON ROOSEVELT STUDYING STRIKE SITUATION

Long Liquidation At The Rise

MODERATE VOLUME OF HEDGES

Bombay, Sept. 21.

The New York cotton futures market was firm and fairly active on improved buying influenced by buying on reaction theory. Prices declined on long liquidation.

The market opened at a decline of one point with December 12.70 and under scattered selling prices declined further by 2 points and December reached the lowest level of the day 12.68. At this level there was improved demand on reports of unfavourable weather. Wall-Street operators and trade interests were buying. It was said that President Roosevelt is studying the strike situation with a view to bring the settlement. Prices advanced 14 points from the lowest level reached during the first hour and December delivery was quoted at 12.82 at noon which was the highest level of the day. In the afternoon there was some liquidation which resulted in a decline of 7 points from the highest level and the market closed at a net rise of 4 to 7 points. Spot cotton prices advanced 5 points at 12.85c.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET

The New Orleans cotton futures market was steady and closed at a rise of 3 to 4 points. Spot cotton prices advanced 13 points at 12.91c. per lb.

WEEKLY WEATHER REPORT

"Improvement in Texas has been general and premature opening of cotton has stopped. Bolls are filling out and the prospects of the 'Top' crop have considerably improved. Plants in Oklahoma are setting out new bloom but general condition remains very poor. In the Central Belt conditions have mostly been favourable and there has been some second growth since the fall of rains. Crop in the East is retarded and conditions have been unfavourable."

On Thursday the Liverpool cotton futures market opened at a decline of 7 points on unfavourable strike news and favourable weather reports which caused long liquidation and prices declined further by 2 points, January reaching 6.64. This was the lowest level of the day as at the decline there was steady trade buying. Later on there was good trade calling local short covering and straddle buying. The market closed at a decline of one to two points. Middling American spot cotton prices declined 6 points at 6.96d. per lb.

INDIAN COTTON

East Indian cotton futures market was quiet and closed at a decline of 2 points. At the close October was quoted 5.05, January 5.04 and March 5.01.

EGYPTIAN COTTON

Egyptian cotton futures market was quiet. Sakels futures closed at a decline of 2 to 5 points. Spot Sakel cotton prices declined 7 points at 8.05 Upper futures declined 5 to 9 points while spot cotton prices declined 5 points at 7.09d. per lb.

ALEXANDRIA COTTON

The Alexandria cotton futures market was easy on increased selling. Sakels futures closed at a decline of 20 to 17 points. Ashmouni futures declined 18 to 17 points.

ENCOURAGING STRIKE NEWS

Messrs. M. and B. Stern state:—

Note.—Latest cables state that there is some likelihood of the suspension of the Bankhead tax of 50 per cent. on excess production above the allotted quota but the proposed modification of the Act is not considered as very important due to the fact that the crop is at present estimated at over a million bales below the Bankhead quota.

The strike news is rather more encouraging. President Roosevelt is at present studying the situation and hopes have again been aroused of an early settlement. It appears that the President seems to realise the handicap to business recovery by the continuance of the partial textile strike and his efforts to put an end to it are likely to be successful. It must be noted that recently there has been a large volume of hedge-selling in Liverpool and New York markets against foreign growths and the strength of the spot basis may prevent any tender on 25th September forcing outsiders to lift such hedges. Pending definite news of the settlement of the strike we look for a trading market and as stated yesterday we believe the bearish features fully discounted.

HOPES IN WALL-STREET

Messrs. Langley and Co., state:—

The conference of President Roosevelt with Governor Winant and the Secretary of Labour, Mr. Perkins, aroused hopes in Wall-Street of the early settlement of the textile imbroglio and pending developments in that connection, to-day's American markets were very quiet.

There is a likelihood of the suspension of the Bankhead Penalty Tax on excess production of cotton, at least where the present crop is concerned. So say reports from Washington but the cotton market does not consider the proposed modification of the Act as very important unless the crop (which is at present over a million bales below the Bankhead quota) materially improves.

PRIVATE CABLES—

New York December highest 12.82 plus 11 (12-14 p.m.)
Lowest 12.68—03 (10-14 a.m.)
Liverpool January highest 6.71—02 (3-15 p.m.)
Lowest 6.64—09 (10-45 a.m.)

Messrs. Chunilal Mehta and Co. have received to-day the following cable information from their foreign friends:—

New York: Liquidation near month. Moderate volume hedges. Commission Houses and trade bought.

New York: Market was dull early but since then firm owing to Wall Street and trade buying. Weather unfavourable in Eastern Belt. Cotton goods market—yarn market—firm.

New York: There was distinctly less pressure to sell. President Roosevelt's study of the strike situation is causing a better feeling.

Messrs. Sarupchand Prithiraj have received the following cable:

Memphis: Light rains Oklahoma; slightly warmer; The Daily Official U. S. A. Government forecast says Central Belt generally fair, all balance entire Belt partly cloudy: expect some advance.

Messrs. Patel Brothers have received the following cable from Liverpool:

12-14 p.m.: Market unsettled by continuance of strike, possibility of increased crop estimates owing recent rains in West and reports of modification Bankhead Bill.

8-37 p.m.: Steady trade demand offset hedges.

BOMBAY COTTON

Bombay, Sept 21

Following a small rise of 4 points in New York cotton futures, the local market opened very steady at Rs. 214 for Broach A-M delivery. Private cables indicating early end of strike in America influenced some buying and prices advanced to Rs. 214-8. At this level there was increased long liquidation and prices declined to Rs. 213-12. There is no room for any sustained improvement in the near future and it will be advisable to sell on strong markets.

Liverpool market opened at a rise of 2 points and later on was 4 points up. The local market ruled steady and closed at 5-30 p.m. as under:—

STEADY TONE WHEAT

Messrs M and B Stern state:—

After the heavy decline during the last week the market shows a steadier undertone. A sharp advance occurred yesterday due to the cessation of Indian selling and strength of the Argentine market, particularly maize and corn. The old stale bull accounts appear to have been liquidated and any frost scare from the Argentine or unfavourable reports from America and Canada for Winter wheat sowing would result in covering of hedges against foreign growths. In view of the sound statistical position we think purchases made around present levels should show a nice profit within the next few months

Active Speculative Buying In Steel, Hydro And Power Shares

MILL SHARES FAIRLY STEADY

Bombay, Sept. 21.

The local Share Bazar was firm to-day with active speculative buying in Tata Steel, Tata Power and Andhra shares. The general feeling still continues optimistic and in the absence of offerings prices recorded sharp improvement. Tata Steel Ordinary shares advanced Rs. 2|2 to Rs. 83|10, Defds Rs. 9 to Rs. 323. Tata Power advanced Rs. 20 to Rs. 1218|12 and Andhra shares rose by Rs. 21|4.

Cotton mill shares opened firm but at the rise there was scattered long liquidation. Bombay Burma shares were quiet while Cement shares were barely steady with a moderate turnover. Government Securities were firm on higher London advices.

New buyers are coming in at advancing prices not with a view to earn interest but to take advantage of improvement in prices. There is scarcity of offerings and prices are looking up. There is abundant supply of cheap money at the moment but with the movement of crops, there will be more demand for trade purposes.

Gandhiji's Bombshell

Creates Embarrassing Situation For Congressmen

Four days have gone by since the statement of Mahatma Gandhi was published, and Congressmen all over the country, who have had the courage of their convictions have given their opinion about it, most of them against the proposed amendments to the Congress Constitution.

A majority of Congressmen feel that the proposed amendments are not practicable, especially the Spinning Franchise and would increase dishonesty and hypocrisy, the very things that Mahatmaji wants to remove from Congress Politics.

"Many of the Congressmen have lost faith in the present programme of the Congress. Some of them are anxious to try new methods. . . . It would be in the interest of the nation to allow all such people a free hand to draw up their own programme and to work in their own way," said the President of the Congress in giving out his views on Gandhiji's statement. This is the view that is held by many close associates of Mahatmaji but they are not inclined to give expression to their feelings.

Very few like Baluka Kanitkar come forward and say "There are seventy-five per cent chances of Gandhiji being asked to retain the Congress leadership by a majority of the Congress delegates, whether they believe in his programme or not. But all those who vote for him will not be actuated by the same motives."

The Socialists are against the Khaddar or Spinning Franchise, because they feel that the introduction of such a rule in the Congress Constitution would turn the majority of Congressmen out of the fold of the Congress. It would be filled by people, the majority of whom would be those, who have an interest of their own to serve and not because they believed in either Khadi or Spinning Franchise.

After the amendment is accepted by the Bombay Congress, many of those, who have voted, will certainly make a show of spinning for the first few days and will be habitual wearers of Khaddar, but it is felt that very soon hipocrisy and dishonesty is bound to raise its head.

Other Groups.

There is another group of Congressmen, a considerably powerful section, some of whom are very close associates and exponents of Gandhiji and his ideas who feel that Gandhiji should not try to impose restrictions on Congressmen. They agree that Khadi does, in a way, solve the economic problem of the country, but they are against Khadi-wearing, being made a condition for the bership of the premier political body.

There is still another section in this group, who suggest that there should be two classes of membership of the Congress, one accepting the Spinning Franchise and the other Four-anna Franchise. All those that hold offices in the Congress should be habitual Khadi-wearers and members through Khadi Franchise. A majority of this group feel that it is futile for Gandhiji to attempt reforms in the Congress Constitution, knowing fully well that he will not be getting a free vote.

In A Quandary.

The Socialists, as it is, are in a quandary, as to what exactly their stand should be at the next session of the Congress. They thought that the main question that would have to be fought out at the Bombay Congress would be the future programme of the Congress. They were preparing for that. This bombshell of Gandhiji, throws their question to the background. They will have to first decide what they would do, when the proposed amendments come up for discussion. According to their convictions and faith they will oppose it tooth and nail. But what would they do if it is passed? Would they walk out of the Congress and form a Party outside the Congress? They are not anxious to go out of the Congress without knowing fully well what Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, has got to say on the questions.

Prominent Leader's Views

I was discussing with a very prominent leader of the Congress on Gandhiji's statement. He said that he was not prepared to say anything publicly, because he felt, it would be very embarrassing to certain people. He personally felt that Gandhiji should not threaten to go out of the Congress if his amendments are thrown out. He felt that if such were Gandhiji's views, it was better, looking to the present spirit amongst Congressmen that he retired.

Nobody could honestly believe, according to this leader, having known things from past experience, that Gandhiji will get his amendments passed by a free vote. He said that he would not be surprised, if after seeing the majority of Congressmen expressing their views against the proposed amendments Gandhiji straightway issued a statement from Wardha saying that he was retiring from politics, without consulting anybody. That, according to the Bombay leader was the best course instead of consulting friends and threatening to go out of the Congress.

Embarrassing Position

The position of both the pro-amendment group of Congressmen and the Socialists according to this leader, was really very embarrassing. The Socialists would not like to take a hasty step without knowing the views of their leader Pt. Jawaharlal Nehru and whatever they vote for, it would in reality be a false vote and even if Gandhiji succeeds in getting a majority for his Amendments, it will only be a false vote and not a sincere one.

But it is really pitiable to note that many of these leaders, who are against Gandhiji's proposed amendments, keep mum and are not ready publicly to express their views and there is the least doubt in the feeling entertained in certain quarters that it is they who are always responsible for dishonesty and hypocracy inside the Congress.

"A MARVELLOUS COUNTRY"

Trade Commissioner Pays Tribute To Madras

MADRAS, Sept. 19.

"This is a marvellous country where you can produce anything" observed Mr. Andrew T. Brennan, Trade Commissioner of South Africa at Batavia, who arrived here this morning in a press interview, after having toured the country to study the Indian trade conditions.

Speaking about the object of his tour in this country Mr. Brennan observed that he was charged by the Government in South Africa with the duty of making a trade survey of India to reciprocal trade between the two countries, as it existed to-day, could be improved and what new avenues could be developed in that direction.

TRADE PROSPECTS.

"There has been a tremendous pressure brought to bear on the Minister for Commerce in South Africa by Members of Parliament to establish a South African Office in India" explained Mr. Brennan. "So far as it concerns Indian business in South Africa, I would repeat what the Americans would say, "If you have something to sell, you don't whisper down the well." We say that if you keep us informed about the things you make—nobody knows about them now—your market can be extended tremendously, and when you think of the market in South Africa you ought not to think only in terms of the Union of South Africa.

Think in terms of the Cape right up to the Belgian Congo, nearly three thousand miles. It is your natural market. You are in a position to supply it with a number of articles. As far as trade from South Africa to India is concerned, as a result of the new shipping service you will derive big benefits within a very short space of time, particularly in regard to the trade of diamonds."

Before the end of this month Mr. Brennan expects to submit his report from Calcutta, whereto he is immediately returning.—United Press.

HINDU SABHA'S CHALLENGE TO KAPURTHALA

Can State Contradict Lathi Charge At Phagwara?

KAPURTHALA, (By Mail).

At a meeting of the Working Committee of the Central Hindu Sabha, Kapurthala held under the presidentship of L. Arjandass, the following resolutions were adopted:

This extraordinary meeting of the Central Hindu Sabha protests the unconstitutional arrest and conviction of respectable Hindus of Phagwara, and the lathi-charge on an innocent crowd composed of children and ladies, and informs the authorities concerned that if the present policy of repression is not abandoned forthwith, then all the Hindus of the State who are carefully watching all the developments at Phagwara will be constrained to take some extreme step there, and the sole responsibility for that will rest with the State authorities.

PLEA FOR INQUIRY

This meeting of the Central Hindu Sabha while being conversant with the contradiction of the lathi-charge at Phagwara issued by the State authorities throws out a challenge to the authorities that the lathi-charge at Phagwara is a fact which cannot be contradicted, and if the authorities still persist in the position taken up by them with regard to the lathi-charge they should have the courage to appoint an Enquiry Committee, consisting of some official and non-official members to go into the matter.—United Press.

'CIVIL WAR' LEADS NOWHERE

Ottama's Advice To Congressmen

CALCUTTA, Sept. 21.

Rev. Ottama, the Burma Congress Leader, has issued the following statement:—

"The quarrel among Congressmen over the question of Communal Award has pained me very much, as many other well-wishers of the country. At a time, when unity in Congress ranks was essential for the attainment of our goal, this civil war is sure to weaken us, and it would be difficult to present a united demand for our fundamental rights before the new Indian Constitution is hammered into shape.

DIFFERENCE—SMALL.

"The difference between the groups of Congressmen agitating against the Communal Award and those who are willing to allow the question to stand in the way as it has been settled by the Premier before a fresh solution is arrived at by joint consultation is very small and whatever might have influenced the decision of the Working Committee or the Nationalist Party leaders, it is not yet too late to reconsider the position and effect a compromise.

ADVICE TO CONGRESSMEN.

Instead of dividing the country into two groups for election purposes sincere Congressmen, who do not either believe in councilentry or in fighting over this question should organise themselves immediately and mobilise public opinion and carry on propaganda for convincing the Muslims of the necessity of joint action and earnest attempts of both communities so that the Communal Award, if necessary, may be altered to the satisfacton of all concerned, by a policy of give and take and without unnecessarily embittering feelings between the two communities. I hope my appeal won't go in vain."—United Press.

SIKHS OUT TO FIGHT AWARD

Welcome Pt. Malaviya's Party

BATALA, Sept. 20.

"The Sikhs have resolved to give a stiff fight to the Communal Award, but take it from me that nothing less than the complete independence of India can appease the Sikhs and they will not rest content unless that goal is achieved", thus concluded Sardar Kharak Singh, in his presidential address, delivered at the Akali Conference held here.

The Conference was attended by more than 10,000 Sikhs.

Speeches were made deploring the Congress neutrality with regard to the Award, approving Pandit Malaviya and Mr. Aney's attitude in forming the Congress Nationalist Party and condemning the resolution passed at the recent meetings of All-India Muslim Conference and the Muslim League at Simla.

The Conference adopted three main resolutions one condemning the Communal Award and declaring their determination to fight the same, the second urging the Government for further reduction in the land revenue and 'abiana' and the third, assuring the Central Akali Dal full support to the candidature of Sardar Gulab Singh.—United Press.

No First Class Powers For Bench Magistrates

GOVERNOR DOES NOT CONSIDERS SUGGESTION AS PRACTICAL POLITICS

His Excellency the Governor of Bombay in the course of his speech at the annual gathering of the Honorary Magistrates' Association, Poona on Friday evening said:—

Mr. Moodliar, and Gentlemen.—I know very well how extremely valuable is the support and help which can be given by a body such as yours. I have heard many accounts of the great assistance given by the Honorary Magistrates of Bombay in cases of disorder where it has been necessary to call out the troops. I am very glad that, of recent years, no occasion has arisen here in Poona for calling upon your Association for similar services, but I know that the district authorities can and do rely on your being available if, unfortunately, such occasion should occur.

Meanwhile I am very glad to hear of the extremely useful assistance you have rendered by the disposal of a very considerable volume of work in the way of hearing magisterial cases. In a big and important city like Poona such work cannot fail to be extremely useful to the authorities, not only as a means of avoiding the expenditure which an increase of paid staff would necessitate if your assistance were not available, but also by relieving the Stipendiary Magistrates of a very large amount of work which would otherwise take up much of their time and distract their attention from the hearing of the more elaborate cases on which they are now able to concentrate their undivided attention.

GOING TOO FAST.

As you have accomplished so much, I can well understand your aspiration and ambition to secure higher powers and to go on even to greater things. I am afraid, however, that your ambition that all Bench Magistrates should be gazetted as First Class is perhaps going a little too fast. As you know, a First Class Magistrate has very extensive powers indeed, and it is obvious that Government must exercise the most scrupulous care in seeing that everybody who is entrusted with these powers is fully competent to exercise them.

NOT PRACTICAL POLITICS.

Our Stipendiary Magistrates do not obtain First Class powers until they have had a very substantial period of training as a Magistrate in the lower grades, and after they have proved their fitness for these powers by disposing of a large number of cases in which their individual work can be examined and tested both by the High Court and by their superiors in Government service. I understand that the difficulties you have experienced as the result of some members of the Bench not being gazetted as First Class Magistrates have been fully examined by the local authorities, and that they have come to the conclusion that they are not insuperable. In any case, however, I am afraid that the suggestion that all Bench Magistrates should be gazetted as First Class could hardly be considered as practical politics.

As regards your second request that you should be given the power to commit cases, I understand that you do, as a matter of fact, already possess this power, but that the position is that committal cases are not, as a rule, sent to you for disposal. I cannot help thinking that the practice at present adopted is the right one, and that you would be well advised not to press your request in this connection.

COMMITTAL CASES.

In committal cases, after disposal of the proceedings in the Magistrate's Court, it is necessary, when the case is committed, for all the witnesses to be examined again in the Sessions Court. That being so, it is obviously the duty of Government to ensure that in these cases every possible effort is made to expedite disposal in the Magisterial Court. When such cases are heard before a Stipendiary Magistrate, he is in a position to proceed with the case from day to day and to dispose of it without any undue delay. This can clearly not be done by Honorary Magistrates, whose other occupations make it impossible for them to sit more than a limited number of days in each week. I think, therefore, that committal cases must continue to be disposed of by Stipendiary Magistrates in the normal course.

PLOT FOR BUILDING HALL.

As regards your request for a plot for building a Hall and Library, I understand that no request has so far been made to the local authorities in this connection. If your plans are ready and you will submit your application, I am sure that the district authorities will not fail to give it the most sympathetic consideration.

I thank you once again for the welcome you have accorded to me, and I shall watch with the keenest interest your achievements in the future.

The dacoits seized the arms of the police and decamped.—A. P.
